TEMPEST RAVAGES SOUTH ENGLAND; SIX DEATHS

Jury Finds Criticism Of Trustees Led Girl Teacher to Kill Self

Inquest Into Death of Miss Mable Jones, Camp Six School, Cowichan Lake, Reveals Story of Young Woman's Struggle With Responsibility of First Position

Amendment of School Act to Protect Teachers in Isolated Places Urged

DEATH through a "self-inflicted gunshot wound while temporarily insane," a condition brought about by "unjustifiable, unfeeling and underhand criticism" on the part of members of the School Board, was the verdict brought in by the jury sitting at the inquest held in Duncan yesterday into the death of Miss Mable Jones, twenty-year-old school teacher, who was found dead in her house at Camp Six of the Cowichan Lake Logging Company last Wednesday morning.

A story of a young school teacher and the responsibility of her first position and the criticism which she met, and a story of how, in the face of troubles, the young woman worked diligently to provide for herself and her sick mother, was related at the inquest, which was held at the funeral home of J. H. P. Swan at 5:30 o'clock last evening.

British Inquiry Very Necessary In View of Past

LONDON, Nov. 16.—"In the peculiar circumstances," says The Morning Post, in a leading editorial today on the Vestris disaster, "it is inevitable there should be an American inquiry. The Vestris was engaged in the American coastal trade, sailing under American regulations, but as she was a British ship we think that, in the interests of justice to the British Mercantile Marine, there should also be an inquiry under the British Board of Trade. The fair repute of British shipping cannot be left in foreign hands, and the case of the Titanic showed that an American court of inquiry does not follow lines acceptable to this country. We make no criticism or complaint on that score. We merely say that as serious charges have been made against the handling and equipment of a British ship, the case should be heard and the truth established by a British court."

WILL NOT SELL LABRADOR TO UNITED STATES

Leader Returned to Power in Newfoundland Characterizes Suggestion as Entirely Absurd

AMERICAN CAPITAL INVITED, HOWEVER

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Nov. 16.—Sir Richard Squires, whose party was recently returned to power in Newfoundland, regards the "entirely absurd" suggestion that any portion of Labrador under Newfoundland jurisdiction would be transferred to the United States.

"America would have to secure timber, water power and mineral rights in Labrador as Canadian, English, or other capital," said Sir Richard, "but these rights would be under the control of the United States. No individual person or company shall have a monopoly of these vast resources. The very best possible shall be secured for Newfoundland."

NOT IN HURRY

Sir Richard said the Government would consider the whole matter at the greatest leisure and with utmost deliberation. "There is no great haste and the matter would be considered in the interest of the public, not the speculation."

Sir Richard said that the development of Labrador represented an investment of hundreds of millions, which sum was not available in Newfoundland. "United States and Canadian capital and enterprise are always welcomed in Newfoundland," he said. With reference to previous reports regarding the sale of Labrador, Sir Richard said no one had any authority to speak in his behalf or for his party, which would organize a new Government within the next few days.

Big Business Done in Tax Collections

OTTAWA, Nov. 16.—A total revenue of $381,561,341 was collected during the fiscal year ended March 31, 1928, by the three divisions of the Department of National Revenue of the Dominion, or approximately a million and a quarter dollars on each business day which the year was open throughout the year.

JUBILEE BD. ASK COUNCIL FOR BY-LAW

Building Committee Is Authorized by Directors to Present Question Before City Council

FUNDS TO BUILD HOME FOR NURSES

Board Given to Understand That Provincial Government's Attitude Is Sympathetic

A HOSPITAL by-law will be voted on by the property-owners of the city at the forthcoming civic elections on December 13.

At the regular meeting of the Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital board of directors, held last evening at the hospital, Mr. H. H. Shandley chairman of the board, reported the position of negotiations with the Government, and moved the following resolution, which was carried without dissenting voice:

"That the building committee be given authority to approach the City Council asking permission to submit a by-law to the ratepayers empowering the City Council to make a grant to the hospital of such amount as the hospital board may deem necessary."

Twentieth Century Pilgrims

PILGRIMS are seen at St. Winifred's Well at Holywell, North Wales. The well, which dates from the fourteenth century, is known as the Welsh Lourdes. These pilgrims present a more modern and less picturesque appearance than that of their predecessors in the middle ages or that of the pious Moslems who travel to Mecca.

Witnesses Examined on Alleged Delay to Send SOS. Call From Vestris

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—From an eighteen-year-old wireless operator, who testified in the witness chair like a schoolboy, United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle today wrung an acknowledgment that "maybe" the captain of the steamer Vestris had announced by wireless that he was in difficulties more than eighteen hours before the ship sank and fourteen hours before the formal SOS.

South African Trade Treaty With Germany Published in Berlin

BERLIN, Nov. 16.—The publication today of the recently negotiated trade treaty between South Africa and Germany reveals there is no ground for the fear expressed in the Vestris disaster that German and South African markets equal to the Vestris in response which might explain why the SOS was not sent until the middle of Monday morning, four hours before the ship sank, with no rescue vessels within many miles.

FRENCH DELEGATE TO LEAGUE HAS RESIGNED

PARIS, Nov. 16.—Resignation of Joseph Paul Boncour as French representative to the League of Nations, was announced today. M. Paul Boncour has been a member of the French delegation to the league for the last four years, and in the absence of M. Briand, French Minister of Foreign Affairs, was generally at the head of the French delegation. In his letter of resignation, which was made public, M. Paul Boncour explained that while he was fully in accord with France's position at Geneva, he preferred to leave the post, inasmuch as the National Union Government was no longer in power, and because he might possibly be counted in the opposition since his party, the Socialists, no longer was represented in the Government.

TORONTO UNIVERSITY TAKES UP AVIATION

TORONTO, Nov. 16.—A course in flying at the University of Toronto by a contingent of the Canadian officers' training corps was announced by the university today. It will be the first university flying club in Canada, having no connection with the Royal Canadian Air Force. It will not lead to any military qualifications.

JURY CONVICTS A. H. TAYLOR ON DRAFT CHARGE

Bond Salesman Is Found Guilty by Assize Jury of Making False Pretences to Obtain Endorsement

SENTENCE TO BE IMPOSED LATER

After conferring for over three and one-half hours, a jury composed of ten men and two women brought in a verdict of guilty yesterday afternoon at the Assize in the case of Rex vs. Allison H. Taylor, thirty-two-year-old bond salesman, who was tried on a charge of inducing Albert P. Griffiths, a trustee of this move, the speaker reserved the passing of sentence upon Taylor until later in the assizes.

The trial of Taylor opened late Thursday afternoon, and the case was given to the jury yesterday at 1 p.m. after Mr. Stuart Henderson, counsel for the accused, and Mr. William C. Moreby, K.C., Crown Prosecutor, had addressed the jury, and His Lordship had delivered his charge. The jury remained out until 3:10 p.m., when it returned further direction from His Lordship. The jury retired again to deliberate, and filed back into the courtroom at 4:35 p.m., with its finding of "guilty."

11 Children Orphaned in Rye Village

RYE, Eng., Nov. 16.—The details of the lifeboat disaster at Jersey Gap, near here, yesterday, when seventeen men were drowned, are heartrending and have brought sorrow to the whole country. The victims were all inhabitants of the little village of Rye. The verger of the village church, Mr. Poye, lost his three sons. Mrs. Head lost her husband and two sons, one of the latter only sixteen years of age, and she is left with three small children. "Granny" Cutting lost three sons. The mother of Arthur Downey, tenth victim, is blind. Eleven children in all have been left fatherless.

The lifeboat capsized in tempestuous seas when returning to the shore from an attempted visit to aid the vessel later assisted by another ship. The men were drowned in the sight of relatives on shore.

Conservative Meeting D. B. PLUNKETT

The Conservative Candidate Will Address the Electors of the City of Victoria in Stanley Hall, 306 Edward Street, Victoria West Monday, November 19, at 8 P.M.

DESTRUCTIVE STORM STRIKES COUNTIES, CITIES AND PORTS

COMMERCE IS MORE NEEDED THAN ENVOYS

Candidate Thinks Development of Canada's Foreign Trade More Important Than Diplomatic Status

LOG EXPORT IS CRITICIZED

Bribery by Promises Is Depreciated by Mr. Hayward, M.P., in Allusion to Port Developments

HOPE Canada has reached a stage where it has determined to make a change of front, and will put an end to paying tribute to any foreign country," said Mr. D. B. Plunkett, in addressing the large gathering which greeted him in the North Ward School last night, as he appealed for a change of policy which would call for the manufacture of the native products of Canada to the fullest extent possible within the confines of the Dominion.

The meeting was the first of a series of ward meetings which are being staged by Mr. Plunkett in the interests of his candidacy in the Conservative interests for the coming by-election. The assembly room was well filled with electors, and the speakers, including the candidate, Mr. Reginald Hayward, member-elect for the Legislature, and Mr. P. C. Elliott, were liberally applauded as they attacked the conduct of the Liberal campaign.

Mr. Plunkett said that Dr. MacLean was an estimable gentleman, but he and the doctor differed in their political principles. It seemed to be a Liberal policy for defeated candidates to immediately seek new seats. Dr. MacLean was living up to this practice.

CANADA'S DIPLOMATS

Mr. Plunkett advocated development of trade within the Empire. He believed that more could be accomplished in the line of holding trade conferences than in the policy of appointing Canadian ambassadors to foreign countries. If he were in a foreign country and needed assistance at the hands of someone he would, as a Canadian, be inclined to hope for more when seeking the British ambassador than in asking aid from the Canadian envoy.

Trusting this move, the speaker reserved the passing of sentence upon Taylor until later in the assizes.

The trial of Taylor opened late Thursday afternoon, and the case was given to the jury yesterday at 1 p.m. after Mr. Stuart Henderson, counsel for the accused, and Mr. William C. Moreby, K.C., Crown Prosecutor, had addressed the jury, and His Lordship had delivered his charge. The jury remained out until 3:10 p.m., when it returned further direction from His Lordship. The jury retired again to deliberate, and filed back into the courtroom at 4:35 p.m., with its finding of "guilty."

Furious Gale Sweeps Across From Wales to London—Fronts of Houses Blown In—Roofs Torn Off—Trees Uprooted—Wire Communications Crippled

Streets of London Strewn With Poles, Chimneys, Signs

Wind Sweeping Through Westminster Snaps Sword Off From Heroic Figure of Crusader King—Funnel Blown Overboard From Coast-Ing Steamer Into Irish Sea

LONDON, Nov. 16.—A southwesterly gale of great violence whipped over South England and Wales today, crippling wire communications, buffeting such shipping as ventured out and causing widespread damage to property, as well as injuries to many persons. Six deaths were reported. Along the Channel ports and Bristol coast area the storm was described as the worst in many years. Throughout the day it frequently attained a velocity of from sixty to seventy miles and it continues with dangerous force tonight.

Australia Makes Discrimination Hurts B.C. Ports

VANCOUVER, Nov. 16.—Decision of the Government of Australia to include full rail charges from Eastern Canada, points to Vancouver when calculating the duty on goods shipped through the port of Vancouver to the Commonwealth, as indicated in a statement issued from the office of the Australian High Commissioner in New York, and published in Toronto today, is looked at askance by shipping men here. When shipped from United States ports the only addition to be made is the rail charge to the boundary line, the statement said.

Exactly what freight goes through Vancouver to Australia from Eastern Canada cannot be reckoned readily. It includes automobiles, pianos and other articles.

Salvation Army Chief of Staff Is In Command

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The Daily Mail today says that Commissioner Edward J. Higgins, chief of staff, has assumed command of the Salvation Army pending a meeting of the High Council in January. The meeting was said to have been summoned because a majority of the commissioners considered the generalship was vacated owing to the lengthy illness of General Bramwell Booth.

DID HE CASH CHECK?

VANCOUVER, Nov. 16.—If John West, aged seventy-three, who was found dead in his bed at the Stanley Hotel, Thursday, cashed the first cheque of his Canadian Government annuity, for which he paid $3,966 into the Government a little more than a month before his death, his heirs cannot recover the $3,966, according to C. Gladstone Beveridge, C.B. Arzoo, counsel for Parents, Vancouver representative of the Federal Government annuities. If he did not cash this first cheque, which he received on October 27, then the $3,966 will be returned to the estate.

MR. L. GEORGE IS SCATHINGLY REPRIMANDED

Former Premier Rebuked for His Attacks on France and on British Policy in Foreign Press

ILL-WILL CREATED AGAINST BRITAIN

NEWCASTLE, Nov. 16.—Articles written by David Lloyd George, Liberal leader, for newspapers outside Britain, attacked in the House of Commons a few days ago by Premier Balfour, were also scathingly denounced by Earl Winterton, Under Secretary for India, in a speech here last night. Earl Winterton described Lloyd George as "reprehensibly attacking France through the medium of foreign newspapers."

"It is beneath the dignity of a former Prime Minister to be able to the interests of this country for him to continue to write articles for foreign newspapers upon subjects on many of which he has betrayed a most lamentable ignorance," said Earl Winterton. "The only result has been to make the French extremely indignant with him and produce ill-feeling in this country and France."

Earl Winterton added that Lloyd George had committed an unpardonable act during the 1926 general strike, when he attacked the British Government through the United States newspapers when the Government was engaged in handling a great national crisis. "If he wants to attack the Government, let him do so in the House, not in American newspapers," the Under Secretary for India concluded.

Crippled Man Averts Panic In Audience

WINNIPEG, Nov. 16.—When flames broke through the stage flooring of the Monarch Theatre, a small motion picture house on Portage Avenue, here tonight, a panic among the 375 men, women and children comprising the audience was averted by the coolness of Walter Deering, crippled manager, and S. H. McLean, a member of the audience. Firemen soon had the fire under control, and but slight property damage was caused.

COMMERCE IS MORE NEEDED THAN ENVOYS

something to aid in the upkeep of a navy to protect the avenues of traffic for the Empire.

THEN AND NOW
The candidate alluded to the disposition that Dr. MacLean was showing to desire to be of assistance to the farmers of the district about Victoria now that he was a candidate for the Dominion House. When the people were in great need of help from the Liberals, and when Dr. Toimie was putting up a fight for them in the House of Commons over the dumping of produce from the United States, there was no help coming from Dr. MacLean.

But as soon as Dr. MacLean was nominated for the present contest he suddenly became anxious to assist the farmers in the vicinity, and was announcing his readiness to do what he could to give aid in the way of anti-dumping legislation.

Mr. Plunkett said that it was being urged against himself that he was favoring a higher rate of living. This situation was not being correctly represented. The Liberals contended that there was prosperity. There was prosperity here only if a man had a job. If he could not hold his job there was nothing else to turn to in the country and there were few working men in the country that could find places to work in if they threw up their existing positions.

The situation would be righted when the conditions were such that the people had reliance in themselves, and were determined to build up their own country and not pay tribute to a foreign one.

No objection had been raised against the shipping of lumber out of the country after it had been sawed into that commodity. The objection was to the export of the logs in the raw state.

If a high tariff had been placed on automobiles coming into Canada today, the country would have been spent on automobiles made in Canada today. The country would have been that much richer.

PORT DEVELOPMENT
Mr. Elliott said that all residents of the city of Victoria wanted to see the port developed. All were agreed that the ocean docks and drydock were great things for the port and for shipping on this coast. These were obtained, however, by the Conservatives. They were forced through by Hon. Dr. Toimie in spite of the opposition of the Liberals.

Mr. Elliott criticized the statement appearing in the Liberal paper that the port was the advantage of the logging industry. It was cited that $480,000, and some 420 men were employed in the logging. Mr. Elliott admitted there was a lot of this work going on at Cowichan Lake. He had seen the logs hauled to Cowichan Bay, where the docks were in many instances, towed to the United States.

The Conservative party stood for the manufacturing of the raw material in the country. The United States had followed that course and succeeded. Canada should take a lesson from the United States and get the full profit out of the raw material produced. The people must learn to manufacture at home and get the double profit.

Mr. Hayward said that if Conservatives believed in their party doctrine, if they believed the Conservative principles were in the interest of Canada, then Victoria Conservatives should stand behind their nominee, and if they did they would elect Mr. Plunkett. There was always a tendency towards apathy in by-elections, so he appealed to Conservative supporters not to allow this election to be lost on that score.

"Our opponent, who got a sound political thrashing last July, says in effect, 'Elect me and I will see that we have great port development here,'" said Mr. Hayward.

"Is not our candidate and the Conservative Party as vitally interested in port development as Mr. MacLean? Of course they are, and are just as likely to get that development. I ask you, did Dr. MacLean take any particular stand on port development before this election? I do not remember any."

CONSERVATIVES RESPONSIBLE
"Who got us the Ogden Point docks and breakwater, and the Esquimalt Drydock, the largest in the Empire? These were all procured for Victoria with Conservative members holding this seat."

Mr. Hayward asked if Dr. MacLean took any active part in the securing of the grain elevator on the woolen mills, or the cold storage plant, or in the development of port activities for this city? He could not remember any. The Chamber of Commerce, the City Council and the citizens as a whole were responsible for these things. An election is on, however, and port development sounds like a good slogan."

BRIBERY OF ELECTORATE
Mr. Hayward examined the claims of the Ex-Premier and his performances when in office, and remarked that the Liberal candidate's suggestion that the Ottawa Government would not deal with a Conservative was to accuse the Dominion Government, of which he was a supporter, of being a party to an attempt to bribe the electorate.

"I further think that Dr. MacLean's suggestion that the Federal Prime Minister will dip down into the Treasury if he is elected, but will keep the purse strings tight if a Conservative is elected is an insult to the Government of Canada, and to the people of Victoria. In this, I think the Liberal candidate has displayed a very poor conception of political morality," Mr. Hayward remarked.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. George Miller, the chairman of the ward, who spoke briefly in favor of the candidate.

Jury Finds Criticism Of Trustees Led Girl Teacher to Kill Self

"Dear Friend.—If you wonder at all why I did this you will find the reason above. There are a few people who would like to see me out of the way, so I am trying to please them. I tried to talk to you tonight. I wanted to tell you to help me to get another school. You said I was to look to you as a sincere friend—more than that."

I know this is a coward's way of doing things, but what they said about me almost broke my heart. They are not true.

"Forgive me, please. Say it was an accident."

"MABLE."
Dr. Bisset was the next witness to take the stand. He said he had conducted a post mortem on the body and found that the young woman had been shot through the heart and left lung. The muzzle of the rifle had not been more than four inches away from the body when the gun was fired.

OFFERS FRIENDSHIP
Mr. Chris Gilson, taking the stand, said he had known the teacher since December, 1927. He had found her dead after being called at her house at 9:10 o'clock Wednesday morning. He had heard of the teacher's work and had inspected the school and found everything satisfactory. "It was pleasing to visit such a school."

He said that he had seen Miss Jones on Tuesday night and discussed matters with her in connection with the criticism leveled against her. He had told her to come to him if there was any more criticism; to consider him as a friend, even as she would her father.

He described her as a young woman of shy and retiring disposition, and while in the stand urged the court to stop, if possible, any further recurrence of "lying, petty criticism."

It was cowardly criticism, he said, and he was sure that the school board, the teacher had told him.

Mrs. Jane Black Dick, who had known the girl for only a month, told of making the tragic discovery at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. When the teacher failed to arrive at school, she had gone to her house.

JUBILEE BD. ASK COUNCIL FOR BY-LAW

building committee finds necessary in order to complete construction and equip a new nurses' home, and a residential for patients' use part of the old hospital now occupied by the nurses."

GOVERNMENT READY
Before framing his resolution Mr. Shandley reported that the building committee had been prepared to bring down a report almost immediately. The deputations has asked the Government to build the city with a by-law which would provide for the difference between what the Government offered and what the hospital required.

In speaking to the Government the hospital building committee had definitely indicated that the new nurses' home would release a part of the old hospital which, when reconditioned, would be able to accommodate sixty-five patients. They had also informed the Government that the late Government had an understanding with the hospital that they should have a grant of $150,000. Acting on this understanding, the board had asked and done certain work, but the money had never been paid in full.

ROUTINE BUSINESS
Other business at last night's meeting included Dr. Pearce's report of a donation from Mr. Kiewit of $122, to purchase and equip a child's cot. The meeting voted the usual amount for Christmas cheer and the nurses' dance.

The secretary read a letter from Dr. H. E. Young, provincial health secretary, expressing pleasure that the Jubilee hospital training school for nurses wished to affiliate with the University of British Columbia. This action is being taken because of the advantages which will accrue to nurses wishing to take the course in social service.

The hospital report for the month showed 352 patients admitted during October, 27 births, 321 patients discharged, 20 deaths, and 202 patients remaining in hospital on October 31. The total number of days' treatment was 6,798, the average number of patients per day, 219.

The village choir boys, relates the London Chronicle, had decided to form a cricket team and appointed their junior member secretary. In due course the youngster appeared to the curate for support. This is how the letter ended. "And we should be very pleased, if you would allow us the use of the bat which the choirmen may you have in the belfry."

Well, people would have seemed as lawless fifty years ago if there had been as many laws to break.—Detroit Free Press.

and there found her dead body on the floor of the stateroom and others.

FIANCE'S STORY
Arthur Chester O'Neil, called "Fete" by his fiancée, next took the stand. He told the jury of having been asked by Miss Jones to take her home from the dance about 1 o'clock Wednesday morning. He left her at 2:15 a.m., on the back steps of her house, after talking to her for almost an hour with regard to her troubles with the school board.

He said that she spoke of suicide, and that he had entreated her not to carry it out. "I begged her not to, and told her it would be a selfish action on her part after the manner in which she had taken care of her mother."

His fiancée had told him again of the criticism leveled against her. He had asked her to stay, offering to marry her at Christmas instead of next June, but she said that she would be unable to get enough money for her trousseau by that time as she was sending money to her mother.

Miss Jones had told him of her plan to try and get another school. He had asked her to stay, offering to marry her at Christmas instead of next June, but she said that she would be unable to get enough money for her trousseau by that time as she was sending money to her mother.

His fiancée had told him again of the criticism leveled against her. He had asked her to stay, offering to marry her at Christmas instead of next June, but she said that she would be unable to get enough money for her trousseau by that time as she was sending money to her mother.

WANTED NEW TEACHER
Robert Magnone, secretary of the school board, was next called to the stand. He said he had complaints with regard to Miss Jones from Mrs. Peck, one of the trustees, and others came indirectly "through my Missus." There had been no meeting of the new school board, so that the complaints were not authorized, he said.

With respect to the first complaint mentioned in the girl's letter, he said this had come from Mrs. Peck, and he had agreed with her. He did not know where the second complaint came from. The third complaint came from his children, and the fourth from the fourth complaint he did not know.

He said he had taken the complaints up with the teacher and she had cried when she heard of the complaints.

Inspector May took the stand and gave an account of the teacher's work, stating that the progress of her classes was very satisfactory.

Mrs. Peck, a member of the school board, admitted that she had discussed with the secretary that the teacher should be asked to resign, and said that he had agreed with her. She had heard of another teacher, whom she believed would fill the position satisfactorily.

She said she would have discharged the girl if she had had the authority.

SKELETONS IN SAND PIT
BROCKVILLE, Ont., Nov. 16.—Discovery of thirty human skeletons, many in a perfect state of preservation, in the course of excavations being carried on by employees of the Provincial Department of Highways, in a sand pit, in Osnaburk Township, near Woodlands Village, was reported today. All of the skeletons were reburied upon another part of the property.

cabin with the chief operator, and James MacDonald, another assistant wireless man, said sitting down the tilted deck of the ship into a lifeboat. This boat, he said, leaked, there was no drinking water and no flares.

SENT TO ALL SHIPS
James MacDonald, another radio assistant, followed young Veschere to the stand. MacDonald said he joined the ship November 10, the day she left New York, after having been a radio operator since 1915.

Veschere had been an operator for three months only and his experience consisted of one round trip to South America. MacDonald testified he first noticed the ship listing Saturday night, but said he spoke of it to nobody, and he did not hear it mentioned among the officers until the morning of the day the ship sank.

"When was the first message sent out except by passengers?" Mr. Tuttle asked.

"It was a CQ message telling all ships we might need help and to listen for us, on Monday morning," MacDonald replied.

"About 9 a.m.?"
"About that time."

"When was the SOS sent?"
"Between 9 and 10—near 9 I'd say, but I couldn't swear to it."

"Was any record made?"
"No. There is of ordinary messages, but when one like that comes along, the only thought is to get it out. We don't worry about time."

"Then nobody knows definitely when either the CQ or the SOS went out?"

"I can't say for sure," MacDonald said.

"Before the CQ message, was there any message to the Lampport & Holt Line or its agents?"

"No, that I know of."

"Ever hear of a man named David Cook? (Vice-president of the line's agents.)"

"If I had been wanted from shore, who would have been asked?" "Lampport & Holt."

"But the ship went down without any such communication?"
"There were messages after the SOS."

"From Lampport & Holt?"
"Yes."

"What about?"
"Asking details."

"Did you see anybody doing anything about the list of the ship on Sunday—trying to straighten it out?"

"No."

"When did you leave the radio cabin for the last time?"

BRITISH PLANE INVADERS U.S.A.

DE HAVILLAND MOTHS TO BE MANUFACTURED IN MASSACHUSETTS CITY

(Copyright, 1928, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)
CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—The Moth Aircraft Corporation, which is licensed to manufacture in America the famous British light plane in which Lady Mary Heath and others have established various records, has announced its full directorate.

The corporation recently marketed 30,000 units of its class "A" and class "B" stock.

We hope to make the light, easily handled sport plane, for the private owner, as popular in America as it has become in England," Earl L. House, vice-president of the corporation, said today.

"Our plant for the manufacture of the famous De Havilland plane will be situated at Lowell, Mass. Engineers from England, who have been connected with the building of the English Moth, will supervise the work here. With this combined with able to market the finest kind of American methods, we hope to be 'sport plane at a moderate price.'"

MANY PRESENT AT UNVEILING OF MEMORIAL

Premier Simon F. Tolmie
Officials at Ceremony
Held in Honor of Late Mr.
J. B. Greaves

PLAQUE IS ERECTED IN JUBILEE HOSPITAL

Before a large gathering of members of the Provincial Cabinet, mayor, aldermen, reeves, councillors and old friends, a plaque was unveiled in the blue room of the Royal Jubilee Hospital, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, by Premier Simon F. Tolmie, in memory of Mr. Joseph Blackbourn Greaves, who left his entire estate to charity, including $200,000 to the Jubilee Hospital. Mr. George McGregor, chairman of the hospital board, presided at the ceremony.

Premier Tolmie, in his opening remarks, said he was honored in being asked to unveil the memorial to his old friend, Mr. Greaves. "It is a great honor to be able to unveil this memorial to a man held so dear in the hearts of British Columbians, particularly livestock men, who knew and respected him highly."

"Mr. Greaves was one of the most striking examples of our early pioneers. He left the Old Country when but a boy of fourteen years of age, making the trip across the Atlantic in a sailing ship that took sixty days to complete the voyage. He went to Missouri, and after working hard there set out with sixty-five others across the continent, driving before them thousands of head of cattle and one thousand head of horses. He spent some time in the California gold diggings, and from there went to Oregon. After participating in the cattle raising business there he went to the Cariboo during the gold rush days. Well do I remember his first visit to Victoria in 1867, for I arrived on the same day. The only difference was that he arrived fully clothed and I didn't," the Premier said, amidst laughter.

BRINGS IN SHEEP
"After spending some time in the Cariboo he returned to Oregon and brought a large drove of sheep to British Columbia, selling them at the 150-mile post. In 1882 he brought thousands of head of cattle up from Oregon and, with his partner, C. W. R. Thompson, established the famous Douglas Lake Ranch of 120,000 acres. He had between 15,000 and 20,000 head of cattle, one of the largest herds in Canada, and 1,000 head of horses. He was a very enterprising cattleman, one of the old type that was fast disappearing. He did much to improve the breed of cattle in this province, importing new blood and paying good prices for breeding cattle."

"He was everybody's friend except to the cattle and horse rustlers. It was the frontier conditions under which he lived that brought about his generosity of spirit. Such life developed a warm heart and a desire to help others."

"He has set a splendid example for other British Columbians to follow. The bequeathing of his entire estate to charity was but the nature of the man, and it is with the greatest of respect and pride that I unveil this memorial to my old friend, Mr. Greaves," Premier Tolmie said, as he pulled the Union Jack from across the plaque and revealed it to the gathering.

HON. S. L. HOWE HEARD
Hon. S. L. Howe, provincial secretary, under whose department hospital matters come, also addressed the gathering, telling something of the life of Mr. Greaves and his services to humanity. "He was always a great believer in humanity helping humanity," Mr. Howe said. He spoke the start in life that he himself had been given by Mr. Greaves.

Dealing with hospital matters he said his department received numerous applications from fifty-eight hospitals throughout the province, and it was a difficult problem to know how to give relief to everyone. The application of the Jubilee Hospital for assistance was being given serious consideration, he said.

Mr. George McGregor spoke of the beneficence of Mr. Greaves, and how he had made it possible to construct the new wing of the hospital.

PEACE RIVER AND BUSINESS

Hon. F. P. Burden Discusses Question From Standpoint of Business Development on Coast

DECLARES AID WILL BE FRUITFUL

An interesting address was given yesterday by Hon. F. P. Burden, Minister of Lands, at the fortnightly luncheon meeting of the Real Estate Board of Victoria, held in Spencer's private dining-room.

The speaker discussed the opening up of the Peace River district from the angle of its effect upon the real estate business in Victoria. The district had an area of three hundred and seventy-two thousand square miles.

He pointed out the advantages which would accrue by running the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, to connect the Peace River district with the Coast. Besides the enormous potential wealth of the mines, he said, it was the finest agricultural area in British Columbia, and he was confident that the completion of the railway would make for a great increase of real estate business in the settled parts of the province.

HOSE LINKS HOME WITH GAS MAIN AND CELL IN JAIL

TORONTO, Nov. 16.—"How to heat and light a ten-roomed house by gas without costing a single cent."

It reads like a dream, yet is a reality, according to the police. Mrs. Anna Henderson, Gerrard Street East, managed to solve the problem. It is alleged—at least, until consumers' Gas Company inspectors called in the police. Now Mrs. Henderson is endeavoring to solve the problem of how to circumvent the Criminal Code, which charges her with the theft of gas, and stay out of jail.

Mrs. Henderson was taken into custody recently by Detective Black, and the story Black tells is this: That Mrs. Henderson and her husband have a ten-roomed rooming house at the Gerrard Street address, which they have heated with gas alone since last March. And that is not all. All the cooking has been accomplished by this method.

For Mrs. Henderson's purpose, a meter was superfluous. Nay, it was a hindrance. So that Mrs. Henderson decided to discard the one that was in the house when she took it over, and trust to a short length of rubber hose connecting the gas main with the feed pipe in the basement of her home.

It was not until recently that the gas company detected an unusual consumption in the neighborhood of the Henderson house. They visited the house only to find on investigation that the cap which prevented the flow from the main was apparently in the position left by those who had cut off the gas. Their suspicions were not stilled, though. The house was watched. Nightly lights appeared in the house, which at first were thought to be electric, but which, on closer inspection, the police say, proved to be gas illuminations.

When Black called the house was brightly lighted. An examination of the furnace, the police allege, disclosed a pipe running from the feed pipe. The latter was connected by a short length of hose to the gas main, this being so comparatively loosely connected as to be a constant menace to the inmates of the house.

SENTENCE REDUCED

VANCOUVER, Nov. 16.—With Mr. Justice McPhillips dissenting, the Court of Appeal today dismissed the appeal of C. Minton, who had been convicted in County Court of stealing an automobile. The majority of the court, comprising Chief Justice Macdonald and Justices Martin and M. A. Macdonald, reduced a three-year sentence, which had been imposed by Judge Grant, to one of eighteen months, commencing from today. Judge Grant, when sentencing Minton, took into consideration that two revolvers were found in the stolen car and a clip of cartridges was in the prisoner's possession. It was in the prisoner's possession, the court decided, that the judge should not have been affected by these matters when imposing a sentence for theft of the motor car.

Mr. Justice Macdonald would have quashed the conviction on several grounds and granted a new trial.

PEACE RIVER AND BUSINESS

Hon. F. P. Burden Discusses Question From Standpoint of Business Development on Coast

DECLARES AID WILL BE FRUITFUL

An interesting address was given yesterday by Hon. F. P. Burden, Minister of Lands, at the fortnightly luncheon meeting of the Real Estate Board of Victoria, held in Spencer's private dining-room.

The speaker discussed the opening up of the Peace River district from the angle of its effect upon the real estate business in Victoria. The district had an area of three hundred and seventy-two thousand square miles.

He pointed out the advantages which would accrue by running the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, to connect the Peace River district with the Coast. Besides the enormous potential wealth of the mines, he said, it was the finest agricultural area in British Columbia, and he was confident that the completion of the railway would make for a great increase of real estate business in the settled parts of the province.

EMPIRE IN MAKING

The grade had been completed as far as Prince George, and steel had already been laid along forty miles of it. The Peace River area, he surmised, from a production point of view, any district in the Dominion of Canada. It was on record that as much as eighty-four bushels of wheat to the acre had been harvested in the district. People were already pouring in to this part of the country, which fact would go far towards solving taxation problems.

"If the completion of this railroad," he concluded, "tends to increase the value of your real estate, I am sure that it will be worth the while of some of you gentlemen to make a trip into the Peace River country, and examine conditions for yourselves."

BRITISH EMIGRATION

Major Holmes said that people in England all seemed to be in favor of the safeguarding of industries. The logical result of this form of legislation was that the population of the country would have to be made smaller. Therefore they were all in favor of any feasible scheme of emigration which could be put forward. The building trade of the country was going ahead by leaps and bounds, Mr. Bridgman told the board, and said he had been very struck by the enormous export of gramophones and records.

Ex-Service Men's Cordage Company Records Success

VANCOUVER, Nov. 16.—"The most successful year of operations in the company's history," was disclosed in the reports submitted by Dr. E. Gallant, president, and F. C. Brown, managing director, at the annual meeting of the Canada Western Cordage Company, Limited, held last night.

A feature of the company is the fact that it is largely a returned soldiers' organization, there being about 140 ex-service men who hold stock.

Checks covering a dividend of 6 per cent have already been sent out to shareholders, this being the second year a dividend has been paid. It was pointed out.

A very large increase in Western trade was revealed in the annual reports, as well as a substantial increase in exports. It was stated that the company was exporting to several countries, including most of the colonies of the British West Indies.

"Our imports of raw material through the port of Vancouver during the past year, were considerably in excess of 1,000 tons of hemp and fibre," the report said.

Famous Recipe For Stopping a Severe Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough or chest cold. It takes but a moment to mix and costs little, but it is depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex from any drugist. Pour this into a 16 oz. bottle, then fill it with an equal quantity of sugar syrup or strained honey. The 16 ounces thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. If pure, keeps perfectly and children love to pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, soothes away the inflammation, and loosens the germ-absorbed into the blood. At the same time, it is directly upon the bronchial tubes and helps to throw off the mucus which is the cause of the trouble. Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of resins, in a refined, palatable form, and known for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Canadian Manufacturers Executive Is in Session

MONTREAL, Nov. 16.—The quarterly meeting of the National Executive of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association here yesterday declared strongly in favor of assisting in the solution of the rust problem of the Canadian farmer and of encouraging Canadian shipbuilding.

Manufacturing for public consumption, in Government institutions, such as prisons, hospitals and homes, was strongly protested.

As for tariffs, the committee felt the result of the recent United States elections would be to maintain and in many cases increase the high tariffs and rates of that country. Increases were announced since the last meeting as having been made in tariffs by Italy, Spain, St. Lucia and Lithuania, and Mauritius has canceled its preference to Canada.

A special committee, headed by the president, was appointed to make a study of sales, income and excise taxes, and to draft recommendations for presentation at the next session of Parliament.

First Grain Shipment Poured Into Elevator At Ogden Point Docks

The sun shone brilliantly on the Panama Pacific Grain Terminal at Ogden Point docks yesterday morning, and a Union Jack floated resplendent in the breeze overhead as the first car of grain was emptied into the plant.

Promptly at 9:10 o'clock two men armed with axes, pushed aside the track shed, and broke down the wooden partition behind the door. With a shower of dust a small quantity of grain trickled out and down through the iron gratings over the receiving pit.

Those present crowded round to be the first to see the 1,008,000-bushel structure receive the trickling stream into its hungry maw. More woodwork was pushed aside and two large flat wooden showels attached to ropes on a compensating pulley system, motor driven, were taken inside the car.

A bell rang three times in the shed, and with the snap of a switch an overhead motor started its rhythmic purr. Each scoop controlled by the men inside the car was automatically pulled to the edge, dumping its cargo of grain over into the pit below. As weights running through the pulleys rose to the roof, the scoops were pulled back into the car for a fresh load.

The grain passed from the receiving pit to the boots of the receiving legs at the bottom, and from there was pumped to the receiving garner at the top of the workhouse, the square portion of the plant at the southern end. From there it was conveyed to the receiving scale, capable of weighing 2,000 bushels at a time.

GOES TO BINS

Once there it went to bins in the workhouse by means of a transfer belt, and from there, by another belt, to the cleaners, a series of sieves and shaker screens removing all dust. An air cleaning system and drier is also installed to further process the grain.

Three cars can be unloaded at a time under the track shed at a rate of about twelve minutes for a 1,500-bushel load by two experienced operators. The grain dust removed in the various operations will be shipped to Seattle, where it is used in the manufacture of animal food.

Those present for the Dominion Government were Mr. J. H. Crawford, chief grain inspector for the Pacific Coast; Mr. S. M. Capon, weighmaster; Mr. S. R. Denney, deputy grain inspector, and Mr. J. Whalley, weighman. Mr. Denney, who was for five years at Vancouver as grain inspector, will take up residence here. Mr. J. S. Tait was present for the Panama Pacific Grain Terminal, Ltd.

Civic officials present were: Mayor J. Carl Pendray, Alderman E. S. Woodward, Alderman H. O. Litchfield, Alderman P. H. Brown, and Alderman John Harvey. Others were Mr. John Baxter, mayor's secretary; Mr. George I. Warren, industrial commissioner for the Chamber of Commerce; Mr. A. E. L. Somerville, representing C. D. Hore & Co., consultant engineers; Mr. James Burden, superintendent of the elevator; Mr. Harry A. Stuart, district freight agent for Canadian National Railways; and Mr. J. E. Amundson, who superintended construction of the big plant.

OPERATING STAFF

The operating staff of the elevator, totaling about twenty men, is headed by Mr. James Burden, superintendent; Mr. W. J. Hatcher, general foreman; Mr. Bruce Stiles, assistant foreman; Mr. George Johnson, weighman; and Mr. A. H. Farley, electrician. All these men have had long experience in elevator operation. Mr. Burden and Mr. Hatcher have installed elevators for the South African Government several years ago.

The first of the four cars of grain unloaded was from Mr. H. L. Mariens, of Tonleil, Alberta, and contained 1,000 bushels. The four cars will be taken to the Point Ellice terminal of the C.N.R. and loaded with lumber for Prairie provinces.

The principal test carried out yesterday was of the scales, which must be extremely accurate even under big loads. When they are found to be correct a permit to operate will be wired from Ottawa, to be followed by a written licence. The plant will be given a thorough test with the machinery under load before being turned over to the Panama Pacific by the contractors, Smith Brothers & Wilson.

Mr. Stuart, of the C.N.R., said yesterday that grain will be handled by the Canada from Port Mann to Patricia Bay, from Patricia Bay to the elevator on smaller and larger, which will be stationed at Victoria until a new craft under way at Prince Rupert is completed.

Mr. Stuart said that the grain will be routed direct from Port Mann to Ogden Point. There is understood to be considerable grain now under way from Alberta for the elevator.

Vatican Opposes Athletic Contest Held by Fascists

ROME, Nov. 16.—The Pope's opposition to public athletic competition by girls is reiterated by a telegram in the leading education editorial published in Osservatore Romano. The newspaper, which is used by the Vatican to make its public announcements, found occasion for reviving the subject in the Fascist scheme to hold another athletic meet for girls and young women in Rome next spring.

There had been opposition to the rifle shooting event in the 1928 games and this has been met by substituting an archery contest. Despite this change, Osservatore Romano said that the games "will repeat the offence to sense and the Christian customs of our civilization."

Obituary

MAR. SUE—There passed away on Thursday, Mar. Sue, a wealthy Chinese of this city, aged sixty-five years, born in Canton, China, and a resident of Victoria for thirty-five years. The remains are at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel. Notice of the funeral will be given later.

WATSON—The remains of Mrs. Isabella Watson were laid to rest in Ross Bay Cemetery yesterday afternoon, the funeral taking place from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel and proceeding to St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, where services were conducted by Rev. A. E. L. Somerville. The hymns sung were: "When on My Day of Life the Night is Falling," and "Abide With Me." A large number of friends were present, and numerous beautiful floral offerings covered the casket. The following acted as pallbearers: Colonel S. P. Smyth, P. W. Goddard, Owen Smith, W. J. Alder, Peter Bell and Thomas Ash.

WRIGHT—The death occurred at the Mandeville Apartments, New Westminster, B.C., on Thursday, of George Wright, aged eighty-one years, born in England, and a resident of this province for seven years. The remains arrived on yesterday afternoon's boat, and are at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel, from where the funeral will take place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Canon Stocken will officiate. Interment will take place in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery. Mr. Wright formerly lived in Victoria. He leaves two daughters, Mrs. Jack Hall and Mrs. T. Coleman, of this city, and four sons, Sidney, New Westminster; Ernest, Vancouver; Allan, Cleveland, Ohio; and Jack, South Africa.

DOUGLAS—There passed away on Friday morning at St. Joseph's Hospital, James Douglas, aged seventy-three years, of McKenzie Avenue, Saanich. Mr. Douglas was born in Scotland and had been a resident of Saanich for eight years, coming at that time from Argyle, Man., where he had been one of the pioneers of the district. He is survived by three daughters, Miss Edith Douglas, at the family residence; Mrs. A. E. Clark, in Portland, Ore.; and Mrs. G. K. Sutherland, in Rosedale, B.C., and one son, James D. Douglas, at Port White, Man., also a brother in Scotland. Funeral service will be held this morning at 11 o'clock at McCall Brothers' chapel, Rev. J. G. Bompas officiating. The remains will be forwarded this afternoon to Argyle, where interment will be made in the family plot.

RUSH GRAIN AS LAKE CLOSING NOT FAR AWAY

WINNIPEG, Nov. 16.—With the closing of navigation on the lakes not very far distant, grain is being rushed down. In the past seven days 21,441,000 bushels, approximately, have been carried out by the giant transports. Wednesday's figure of 5,092,000 bushels being this year's record for one day's shipment. Storage at lakehead elevators this morning is down to 48,815,000 bushels.

Farmers marketed 3,017,394 bushels on Canadian Pacific lines yesterday, and 2,233 cars were loaded and moved. Transcona moved 1,426 cars east, delivered 1,033 to the lakehead, and unloaded 1,337 cars there. Vancouver's storage is 8,138,341 bushels, 212 cars moving in that direction by C.P.R. from Calgary yesterday. Interior elevator storage is down to 48,093,137 bushels, due to heavy loading of the past few days.

SETTLERS MOVE INTO DISTRICT

PEACE RIVER SUBAGENT OF DOMINION LANDS IS VISITOR HERE

1,200 Newcomers in Past Year Settle in British Columbia Peace River Block

There have been about 1,200 new settlers go into the British Columbia section of the Peace River district in the past twelve months, according to Mr. Thomas Jamieson, who is subagent of Dominion Lands at Peace River. Mr. Jamieson, from the nature of his occupation, is able to form a close approximation of the movement of new settlers into the area, and he says there are altogether estimated to be an increase of 5,000 newcomers into the Peace River area in the same period, the majority settling on the Alberta side owing to better communication.

Mr. Jamieson, who is registered at the Dominion Hotel, speaks very highly of the country from an agricultural point of view. The Albian railways are reaching out from Wembley to Hythe bringing Prince George within forty-five miles of railway head. There is also communication to Spirit River, across the provincial boundary.

The visitor is a pioneer of the district, having been in the area for nineteen years, and is farming grain, with some registered short horns. More cattle are coming in since a creamery has been established, he says.

SUNDAY CONCERTS ARE CONDEMNED

Warning is issued by Ministerial Association—Declared Illegal Under Lord's Day Act

The Victoria Ministerial Association issued a statement with regard to Sunday concerts last evening, which is self explanatory. It is worded:

"It having been brought to the attention of the executive of the Ministerial Association by the Lord's Day Act of Canada, that efforts are being made to provide concert entertainment in several of the city theatres on Sunday evening next, and that Sunday tickets and programmes have been freely sold, the understanding being that the proceeds are to be donated to a charitable organization."

"And in view of the fact that publicity has been given through the press and considerable interest aroused in these concerts:

"We, the executive of the Ministerial Association of Victoria, desire to inform the public that such sale of tickets and the concerts, intended to be given as a result of such sales, are in direct violation of the letter and spirit of the Lord's Day Act of Canada, Section 7 of which reads as follows:

"It shall not be lawful for any person on the Lord's Day to provide, engage in, or be present at any performance or public meeting, whether in a church, or at which any fee is charged, directly or indirectly, either for admission to the performance or meeting, or to any place within which the same is provided, or for any service or privilege thereat."

"The feature, therefore, of a Sunday concert, constituting illegality, is the charging of a fee, directly or indirectly, for admission either before or at the time of such concert."

"Those who expose themselves to penalties are:

"1. The promoter or promoters.

"2. The performers.

"3. The attendants employed there.

"4. Parties who share in the proceeds of such entertainments or concerts."

"5. Those who attend."

"The enforcement of the Lord's Day Act of Canada constitutes the difference between our Canadian Sunday of rest and freedom from toil, and that of the cities to the south of us, and of Continental Europe."

Candidates for Civic Positions May Use Radio

All candidates in the civic election will be given an opportunity to broadcast their speeches over radio CFCP on the evening of December 8. It was announced yesterday. The station has extended an invitation to all candidates to speak on that night free of charge.

The majority candidates will be given the first, alphabetical order, the names taken from the list. After the majority candidates have spoken all other candidates, regardless of what order they are running for, will be heard in alphabetical sequence.

Five minutes have been allotted to each speaker, so that the programme of election speeches will last about two hours, starting at 8 o'clock.

PROF. CHODAT DIES

VANCOUVER, Nov. 16.—Professor Henri Chodat, fifty-one, associate professor of French in the University of British Columbia, died yesterday. He had spent twenty-two years in the work of teaching in this province.

Born in Switzerland, he came as a young man to Canada, and entered McGill University, from which he was graduated in 1905. Shortly after his graduation, Mr. Chodat was, on the recommendation of the French department in McGill University, appointed professor of French in the University of British Columbia, and except for periods spent in post-graduate study, he has been engaged in teaching French language and literature here.

He is survived by his widow, two sons and a daughter.

Mr. Chodat was a member of the Presbyterian Church and latterly of the United Church of Canada.

Smoking in Arena Not Yet Settled

Police Commissioner W. E. Tapley has entered an objection to the decision of the Oak Bay Council to permit smoking in a specially constructed smoking room in the Willows Arena. The council was approached some time ago by Mr. Stanley Patrick, who asked permission to provide a special smoking room for patrons of the hockey games and skating. The council at that time granted permission.

Now the police commission states that to allow smoking in any portion of the building, even in a specially constructed room for that purpose, would be dangerous owing to the large number of people who attend the hockey games and the fact that the building is constructed entirely of wood.

The question has been referred to a special committee of the council, which believes that some accommodation can be provided for smoking.

MAIL ROBBERS ARE SENTENCED

FIFTEEN YEARS IN PRISON FOR EACH OF THREE TORONTO BANDITS

Fourth Man Gets Ten Years—Two Accomplices Allowed to Go on Suspended Sentence

TORONTO, Nov. 16.—Finlay McLeod, Sr., fifty, Toronto; Everett McKibben, thirty-three, Detroit barber, and James Brown, twenty-eight, alias Sullivan, Toronto, were each sentenced to fifteen years' imprisonment, and Ray Bovin, thirty, Detroit truck driver, was sentenced to ten years, by Mr. Justice Wright this afternoon, for their parts in the $300,000 mail car robbery at the Union Station here June 19 last.

Bovin, the last to be tried, was found guilty late this afternoon. Juries had returned guilty verdicts in the cases of the other three during the past two weeks.

Mrs. Ray Bovin, wife of Ray Bovin, and A. McLeod, brother of Finlay McLeod, both charged former pleas of not guilty to having received stolen money, to guilty, and allowed to go on suspended sentence.

Bovin's clean record influenced the court in giving him five years less than his associates. The prosecution contended that Sullivan was the man who seized the registered bag, and that McKibben stood outside the mail car on guard with two revolvers. McLeod denied actual participation in the robbery, but admitted that he had given information obtained while he was a post-office employee, which made the robbery possible.

GENERAL SHAKE-UP IN LANDS DEPARTMENT IS DENIED BY MINISTER

Following certain changes in the Department of Lands which have been announced during the last few days there have been rumors on the Mainland that more changes have been decided upon by the Minister of Lands, Hon. E. P. Borden.

There is no foundation for such a report, says the minister, who explains that in the carrying out of the reorganization of the department he is being actuated by the need of the fullest efficiency with respect to the administration of affairs without waste of the people's money.

In carrying that out he has found it necessary to make some changes. If further changes are found to be necessary in the carrying out of an efficiency programme these will be made. He denies the insinuation that he has in view the dismissal on a wholesale plan or without reason.

F.R.C.S. EXAMS TO BE HELD IN CANADA

LONDON, Nov. 16.—The question of holding fellowship examinations in Canada was discussed at the annual meeting of Fellows and Members of the Royal College of Surgeons today, but no action was taken.

Dr. A. B. Roxburgh criticized the proposal, stating that it would appear that the easiest way to become a member of the college would be to go to Canada to take the examination there.

Sir Berkeley Moynihan, who presided, said the question of conducting examinations in Canada had been very thoroughly investigated, and nothing would change the feeling of the council that it was an injustice that a man who happened to live in Canada should have unnecessary obstacles thrown in his way.

Examinations in Canada would be conducted on exactly the same lines as here, he said.

Man Is Injured By Automobile

Alfred Hewitt, engineer of the Metropolis Hotel, was injured when struck down by a car while crossing Pandora Avenue on the east side of Douglas Street last night. He received a bad cut on the head and was taken to the Jubilee Hospital where he was attended by Dr. Bapty.

Mr. G. E. Bonnet, of Cobble Hill, was driving north on Douglas Street at the time. In attempting to avoid a motor cyclist travelling in an easterly direction, he swung his car to the right and struck Mr. Hewitt down.

Constables Robert Ireland and Percy Shakespeare attended in the patrol, and took the injured man to the first aid room, where his wound was dressed by Sergeant Heatley. Later he was removed to the hospital.

The jury here on July 13 to get an endorsement of a bank draft for $300 to be drawn on his brother in Mexico City. The amount of the draft was not mentioned in Griffiths' office, he said. Witness said Griffiths inquired about his family, and he told him about his father and brothers. They later went to the Royal Bank together.
Mr. Henderson—"Up to the time you went to the bank with Mr. Griffiths was anything said about your working in Vancouver?"
"No."
"Was there any agreement made between you and Griffiths regarding the endorsement of the draft, and if so, where?"
"Yes, in Mr. Griffiths' office."
"Did you ask him to endorse the draft?"
"I did."
"Was there any question of Griffiths identifying you at the bank?"
"No."

ON MONTHLY BASIS
Taylor denied telling Mr. Griffiths in his office that he was employed by a financial house in Vancouver, but said he told Mr. Stevens, the bank manager, that he was employed by a firm, because he thought at that time he was. He had been employed on a monthly basis and did not consider that the two weeks' notice ended his services.
The accused said Mr. Griffiths endorsed the bank draft, and the bank manager paid him the money. The next he heard of the matter was when he was arrested in Victoria on September 15, this being the first intimation, he said, that he had had that the draft had not been honored by his brother in Mexico City. He said he had reason to believe that his brother would honor the draft, for he had done so on previous occasions.
Defence counsel—"Where have you been since September 15?"
"I have been in jail since that time, awaiting my trial. I was not out on bail."
Mr. Justice Macdonald—"You have made no effort to repay Griffiths the $300 he had to make good on when your brother did not meet it?"
"I couldn't do so, as I was in custody."
His Lordship—"But you could have written Griffiths. There is a commercial consideration in this case. Griffiths is out the sum of $300."

LIVED BEYOND MEANS
Mr. W. C. Moresby, Crown prosecutor, totaled the accused's income from salary, commission and the draft from May, June to July 10.
"How did you get rid of the money?"
"Living beyond my means, I guess."
"It amounts to $650. That is pretty fast living, young man, isn't it?" inquired Mr. Moresby.
"Yes," responded witness.
Pressed on his expenses, Taylor mentioned shows, but emphatically denied that he had spent the money in gambling or speculating in stocks.
Mr. Moresby—"When you told Mr. Griffiths and Mr. Stevens that you wanted the $300 because you had to make good that amount of money which you said you had lost in connection with collections on bonds for your firm, you deliberately lied?"
"Yes," said Taylor.

NEED FOR MONEY
"Now tell the jury what you wanted the money for?"
"I owed a friend $200, and I wanted the money to repay him. I did pay him with the money I got on the draft."
The accused stated that he had come from his home in New Brunswick to the Pacific Coast last April for his health. He had had a one-half year's service. His expenses had been heavy since coming to the Coast, and had been increased after his arrival by an attack of pneumonia which he suffered.

The jury which tried the Taylor case was composed of the following: Frank Cook (foreman), Katie Eklund, Walter P. Tilley, David Worth, Harriett Walters, James Robert, William W. Jones, Thomas J. Fox, Charles W. Jordan, Alexander L. Innes, Leonard C. Ostler and Henry Eagle.

Scouts Entertain
Visiting Troop at Annual-Bean Feast

DUNCAN, Nov. 16.—The Quamichan troop of Boy Scouts entertained the visiting Scouts at their annual bean supper, held in St. John's Hall on Thursday evening. The tables were laid, catering done, supper served and dishes washed by the members and Lions under Patrol Leaders F. Collier and W. Dunkeld. The beans and mashed potatoes were cooked by the mothers, N. Lomas, S. Reilly and K. McKenzie were winners in the guessing competitions which were held directly after supper.

The Eagle Patrol won the team game with Indian clubs which followed. Instructive demonstrations of a cure for snake bites, a prehistoric Ford, and the old gentleman and the brigands, was staged by the Quamichan troop. Scouter Heppental, as the old gentleman, was very amusing. A realistic imitation of "skinning the snake" was given by the Duncan Scouts. A sing-song around the fire, concluding with a campfire evening hymn and the National Anthem, closed a happy evening. District Scoutmaster A. Black-lager presided at the supper and was assisted in the evening's programme by Scouters M. Dopping-Hepental and J. S. Hodging. The Duncan Scouts will be grateful for more disused toys as soon as possible.

Jail Chosen By Chinese For Suicide

An inquest will be held into the death of Hong Chee Bing, a Chinaman, who was found dead in the city jail shortly after 6 o'clock this morning. The inquest has been set for Monday morning by Coroner E. C. Hart.
Hong came into the police station at 4 o'clock yesterday morning in an excited frame of mind. He said someone was after him to kill him. He was placed in the jail for safe keeping.
When the police changed shift yesterday morning, Sergeant Blackstock visited all the cells. He found the Chinaman lying in bed with his throat resting on two iron shoe laces, drawn taught across the bed. He had lain face downwards on the bed, so that his throat rested on the laces and prevented his breathing.

SALESMAN HAS USE FOR PLANE

LARGEST FREIGHT PLANE CARRIES STOCK OF GOODS ON SHELVES
Constructed for Wholesale Firm—Many Other Types at Big December Show

By DON BROWN
Copyright, 1938, by the North American Newspaper Alliance
CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—Seventy-five types of modern airplanes have been entered for the International Consular Exposition, which opens here in the Coliseum and First Regiment Armory on December 1. Entries are still incomplete, and perhaps a dozen more may be expected. It will be the largest show of airplanes, engines and aviation accessories ever held. The exhibits will range from the great Keystone Patriline, with a wing span of ninety feet and a capacity of eighteen passengers, to a tiny one-passenger sport model, with an overall length of twelve feet and a speed of 140 miles an hour.

A Ford tri-motored all-metal transport plane, with only two seats and the largest freight capacity of any plane yet built, will also be shown. After the exposition closes it will be turned over to a Chicago wholesale food dealer, to whose order it was built. The firm will load a full cargo of its products on the shelves in the freight compartment.
It is planned to fly the plane to various parts of the country, where dealers will inspect the stock, and placing their orders. The company expects to materially reduce its present overhead, in addition to covering its field more quickly and efficiently.

LIBERALS TO MEET
On Monday the members of Ward Four Liberal Association will hold a meeting in the McKenzie Avenue School at 8 p.m., when the subject of "United Party, Labor Party, 20; Independents 8." At least six of the Independents are expected to support the United party, the latter being mainly Liberal, and in this event it would have thirty-two seats, forty-one seats being necessary for a majority.

The deputy leader of the United party, Mr. Hanson, declares the only alternatives are for Premier Coates to support the United party in carrying on government, or else for a conference between the Government and the United party with a view to fusion, thus doing away with the three-party system.

Senator Haydon Here—Senator Haydon, well-known political figure in the East, arrived at the Empress Hotel yesterday from Vancouver, B.C. He is expected to stay here when general secretary of the national Liberal organization committee with the present Prime Minister several years ago. He was tired from that post in March, 1922, and was summoned to the Senate in March, 1924. Since 1899 Mr. Haydon has practised law in Ottawa.

Fur Buyer Coming—Mr. Isaac Steinberg, one of New York's leading fur buyers, is expected to be in the city on November 21 to buy silver fox pelts. He is at present in Washington, D.C., and is reported to be paying good prices for clear silver pelts. He will be the third fur buyer to visit the island this year. Although there has been a "crop" of young foxes this year, there is estimated to be not more than 200 pelts to offer, owing to the increased demand for high grade breeding stock.

NEW ZEALAND IN DEADLOCK

UNITED PARTY IS STRONGEST BUT FALLS SHORT OF CLEAR MAJORITY
Fusion is Suggested to Present Premier as Alternative to His Resignation

WELLINGTON, N.Z., Nov. 16.—The complete and final standing of parties following the New Zealand election of November 14 will not be settled for some days yet. In any event there is no doubt of the severe setback to the Government of Hon. J. B. Coates. Today two seats credited to the Government were shown to be held by Independents, leaving the standing: Government, 26; United party, 26; Labor party, 20; Independents 8. At least six of the Independents are expected to support the United party, the latter being mainly Liberal, and in this event it would have thirty-two seats, forty-one seats being necessary for a majority.

The deputy leader of the United party, Mr. Hanson, declares the only alternatives are for Premier Coates to support the United party in carrying on government, or else for a conference between the Government and the United party with a view to fusion, thus doing away with the three-party system.

VOTERS CHOSE NEW NAME

Officers Are Selected by Esquimalt Ratepayers' Association in Making Constitutional Changes

MEMBERSHIP IS REDEFINED

The Esquimalt Voters' Association will be known henceforth as the Esquimalt Ratepayers' Association. Some important changes to the constitution were made by the secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth Jacklin, and adopted. A balance of $80 in the bank was shown by the auditor's report.

Mr. H. H. Nield, president of the organization, stated that the changing of the name was the important matter to discuss. After a little discussion it was moved by Mr. C. H. Smith and seconded by Mr. F. Neel that the name be changed and the new constitution be endorsed. The motion was carried unanimously.

MEMBERSHIP
The most important change in the constitution was that of Clause 10. The old one read as follows: Any person, or any duly authorized agent of property owner who may be placed on the municipal list of voters and who is in sympathy with the objects of the association, shall be eligible for membership, subject, however, to Section 16 of the constitution. The new clause will read as follows: Any ratepayer or wife or husband of a ratepayer (as the case may be), or any duly authorized agent of a property owner who may be placed on the municipal list of ratepayers and who is in sympathy with the objects of the association, shall be eligible for membership, subject, however, to Section 16 of the constitution.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Following this, the election of officers for the ensuing year took place. Mr. Frank Cooke was elected as president by acclamation, although declining at first. Mrs. E. Nield was also chosen to the vice-presidency by acclamation, while Mrs. E. Jacklin was re-elected as secretary. Mr. Charles H. Smith was chosen as treasurer, after Mrs. M. Groves, last year's treasurer, had declined to continue. The executive was made up of the following: Captain and Mrs. R. P. Matheson, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Fea, Mr. and Mrs. H. Nield, Mr. and Mrs. Dawson, Mr. Ben Jacklin, Mr. James Warr, Mr. and Mrs. A. Reed, Mrs. C. H. Smith, Mrs. M. Groves, Mrs. F. Guesst, Mrs. Frank Cooke, Mrs. P. Comerford and Mr. B. Jacklin, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Nield and Mrs. M. Groves were presented with silver cake baskets as a token of appreciation of their untiring efforts during the past year.

During the evening a musical programme was carried out. Miss Isabelle McLean rendered a song, accompanied by Miss Thelma Jacklin, Harry Craven gave three vocal selections, accompanied by Miss Thelma Jacklin and Mrs. H. Nield; Highland Fling by Miss Jean MacLean, Miss Thelma Jacklin and Mrs. H. Nield; several piano solos. Miss Nancy MacLean was the accompanist for the dancing.

Change of Offices

Mr. F. H. Allwood, the well-known civil engineer and British Columbia land surveyor, has transferred his office from the Sayward Building to the new Miller, Court & Company Building.

Island Road Club

The Island Road Club will travel to Langford Lake tomorrow to spend the day at "Dogwood Lodge," at the invitation of Mrs. Orin Curran. During the day a hill climb for members will be held on the old Goldstream Road, and two prizes will be awarded to the two riders making the climb in the shortest time. Members are asked to meet at the corner of Hillside Avenue and Douglas Street at 10 o'clock.

Women's Clubs and Societies

St. Michael's and All Angels' W.A.
The Women's Auxiliary of St. Michael's and All Angels' Church, Chemainus, held its annual sale of work in the hall on Tuesday evening. The hall presented a gay appearance with the numerous attractive stalls ranged on either side. The needlework stall displayed many beautiful hand-embroidered articles, and was in charge of Miss Payne, Mrs. Chatters and Mrs. A. Work. Mrs. Spurling, Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Cas-wall and Mrs. Moore had charge of the home-cooking stall, on which were displayed a variety of preserves, cakes, etc. Mrs. Stubbs and Mrs. Jackson presided at the novelty stall, where many dainty and useful articles were displayed. Home-made candy was displayed on an attractive stall, decorated with colored tulpins, and in charge of Mrs. Donald Clark, Mrs. Alken and Mrs. Halhed, all attired in pretty Dutch costumes. Mrs. Lang, assisted by Mrs. Rowbottom, had a dainty display of handkerchiefs and potted plants. The juveniles were attended to by Mrs. Longrigg and Mrs. Caye, who had a large tree bearing numerous parcels. The kiln-cats competition, in charge of Mr. C. Pritchard; candle lighting, in charge of Mr. Knight, and a coin competition, managed by Miss Blason and Mr. Caswall, provided entertainment. Mrs. Pritchard had a pretty assortment of dressed dolls, and Mrs. W. Porter a stall books. The cake-guessing was looked after by Miss Burnside, and the tea tickets by Mrs. Taylor. Mrs. Collier did a brisk trade as a fortune teller, the booth being in charge of Mrs. Toybee. The tea tables were in charge of Mrs. Knight, who, with her young assistants, were all in bright Oriental costumes. The tea tables were placed on the platform, prettily decorated with crepe paper streamers in many colors. Those helping Mrs. Knight were Misses Kathleen and Violet Porter, Enid Corale and Dorothy Fraser. Hazel Leeson, Hazel Dwyer, Peggy Toybee, Winnifred Lowe, Margaret Laidlaw and Dora Spurling. Mrs. Jarrett and Mr. Alister provided delightful musical selections on piano and violin during the evening. Of the various competitions, winners were: Candle lighting, Enid Fraser and Joyce Rowbottom; cake guessing, Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Raynor and Mr. Peers. Joyce Rowbottom won the box of apples given by Mrs. W. Porter; Mrs. Moore won the baby carriage; Mrs. E. M. Anketell-Jones the table center, and Mrs. Gordon Cook the basket of candy. At the conclusion of the sale, Mr. H. Robinson undertook the duties of auctioneer, quickly disposing of the few articles still unsold. The affair was a most successful one, and the gratifying sum of $210 was realized.

Holy Trinity (Sooke) W.A.
The annual meeting of the W.A. of the Holy Trinity Church was held at the home of Mrs. J. J. Hawkins on Wednesday afternoon. An acknowledgment of the Dorcas sale by Mrs. E. W. Perryman of Alert Bay, was read by the president. The minutes of last annual meeting and financial report were given by the secretary. As the church is in urgent need of funds to balance the year's expenses, the W.A. will work wholly for the home field until expenses are met. It was decided to hold a social evening and an "at home," with home cooking and candy, on November 27 in aid of funds, a definite announcement to be made later. Rev. H. M. Bolton, who was present, then took the chair, and the nomination of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. G. Throp; secretary, Mrs. F. A. Butler (in event of retirement, Mrs. J. C. Cooke was appointed to take office); auditor, Mr. J. A. Munn. Those present were: Rev. H. M. Bolton, Mesdames Cooke, Muir, Butler, McBride, Hewer, Hawkins. Tea was served by the hostesses, assisted by Miss B. Hawkins.

Sidney United W.A.
The monthly meeting of the Women's Guild of the Sidney United Church was held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. McNaught, Third Street. The president, Mrs. J. J. White, occupied the chair and opened the meeting, at which there was a good attendance of members. The secretary, Mrs. S. Roberts, read the minutes and the treasurer presented her report. An interesting report was given of the bazaar which was held in the Matthew Hall on Tuesday afternoon, it having been a most successful one in every way, with well over $200 realized. Routine matters being discussed and disposed of, it was decided that no further meetings would be held until the second Wednesday in January.

The regular meeting of the Daughters of St. George, Lodge 83, will be held on Monday in Harmony Hall at 7:30 o'clock, followed by a dance and card party. All members are requested to attend and bring refreshments.

Esquimalt Card Party
The prize winners at the Esquimalt Women's Institute card party, held on Thursday evening at St. Paul's Parish Hall, were as follows: First, Mrs. Ricketts; Mrs. T. Williams; second, Mrs. Bradley and Mr. W. Rogers; consolation, Mrs. Kelly and Mr. B. Jacklin, Sr. Special prizes, Mrs. B. Jacklin, Sr. and Mrs. Reid. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the game.

Ladies' Aid Bazaar
The annual Ladies' Aid Bazaar of Victoria West United Church will be held on Wednesday next, being opened by Miss Agnes Spencer at 3 o'clock. There will be stalls of plain sewing, fancywork, candies, handkerchiefs, plants and flowers, novelties, etc. Afternoon tea will be served and dinner from 6 to 7 o'clock.

Burgess Bedtime Stories
Two Disappointed Hunters
By THORNTON W. BURGESS

It looked as if someone would have a Squirrel dinner. Yes, sir, that's the way it looked. Reddy Fox thought so. Redtail the Hawk thought so. But Rusty the Fox Squirrel wouldn't let himself be taken so. Not until he was caught would he believe that he was to furnish anyone with a dinner. But things looked bad. They couldn't very well have looked worse. There was Rusty on a fence post with Redtail the Hawk preparing to swoop on him from above, and Reddy Fox waiting for him just below.

Rusty saw one chance for escape. It was just a chance and that was all. But he was making the most of it. He couldn't afford to make a mistake of any kind. No, sir, he couldn't afford to make a mistake of any kind. He would have to jump at just the right second. So Rusty watched the swift approach of Redtail. My, but Redtail was coming fast! It was hard, very hard, not to break and run. "I mustn't run yet, I mustn't run yet," Rusty kept saying over and over to himself as he heard the wind whistling through the stiff wing feathers of Redtail the Hawk.

When it looked as if Redtail surely would catch him, Rusty suddenly bounded forward half way along the next rail. Then without warning, he made a flying leap off to one side, a flying leap to the ground. Now, both Redtail and Reddy Fox were taken by surprise, which was just what Rusty had counted on. Redtail changed his course in the air, hoping to pick Rusty up from the ground. Reddy Fox found himself on the wrong side of the fence and bounded through the bushes, intent on catching Rusty before he could once more get up on the fence.

Both were just too late to catch Rusty, but they were in time to get mixed up with each other. Redtail's low sweep came just as Reddy Fox bounded out from the bushes and one of Redtail's big wings struck Reddy across the face. My, how Reddy lost his temper then! He snapped at that great wing and got a mouthful of feathers for his pains. But he hung on and that brought Reddy and screaming as there was then! Redtail threw himself on his back and struck out with those great claws of his. Reddy let go the wing and danced around, trying to find an opportunity to seize Redtail without encroaching those great claws. Meanwhile Rusty was blaming the other for the loss of Rusty.

"That was my Squirrel!" stormed Reddy. "I found him first!"

"No such thing!" screamed Reddy. "Who was now on his feet. 'I found him first and drove him in among those bushes. I was watching for him to come out again when you came along.'"

"It doesn't make any difference," he was my Squirrel!"

"If he was your Squirrel, why didn't you catch him?" asked Reddy, guarding himself with one of his big wings as Reddy sprang.

"I would have caught him if you had attended to your own business!" snapped Reddy.

All this time where do you think Rusty the Fox Squirrel was? He had darted down an old hole left by Johnny Chuck. He had seen it from the fence post and he had dodged into it in the very nick of time. Now, while Reddy Fox and Redtail the Hawk were quarrelling, Rusty was getting his breath and wondering what to do next.

SCHUBERT CLUB PLANS RECITAL

Will Mark Centenary of Great Composer's Death at High School on Tuesday

Throughout the world, numerous musical organizations are this year commemorating the centenary of the death of the Viennese composer, Franz Schubert. For one hundred years, his lovely melodies have lived enshrined in the hearts of all music lovers, and yet this musical genius during his short life had no more consciousness of his true greatness than had his contemporaries. His music is a faithful reflection of the genial and lovable nature that was his, and it is no wonder that its direct and intimate appeal touches instantly all who hear it.

In honor of his memory, the Schubert Club of Victoria will present an all-Schubert programme at its recital, which will be held in the auditorium of the Victoria High School on Tuesday next, November 20, commencing at 8:15 p.m.

Four groups of Schubert's songs will be given by the club. The programme will open with Schubert's setting of the Twenty-Third Psalm. This was the last piece sung at the recent festival held in Seattle, in which this choir gained the highest marks. Mrs. Gladys Stark, the possessor of a beautiful contralto voice, and a member of the club will sing the obligato parts in "The Music."

The club will be assisted by an instrumental trio, in which Mrs. Rita McNeill, formerly Miss Ormiston, who needs no introduction to Victoria music lovers, as her reputation as a pianist has already been established, will take the piano parts. Mr. F. Gratton, who comes from the best musical centres of the East and England, and Mr. Harold Taylor, who has many times charmed local audiences with his ability as a musician, will play the violin and violoncello respectively.

An outstanding feature of the programme which undoubtedly will greatly add to the interest and understanding of the music will be a short address on the life and work of Franz Schubert, by Mr. Ira Dilworth, principal of the Victoria High School.

At this concert, the Victoria String Quartette, a new musical instrumental ensemble of talented musicians, consisting of Mr. F. Grattan, first violin; Miss Dorothy Francis, second violin; Miss Wilkinson, viola, and Mr. Harold Taylor, violoncello, will make its initial appearance.

Tickets for this recital may be obtained from any member of the Schubert Club or from either of the music stores. Holders of associate membership tickets may select their seats by application at Fletcher's music store, where a plan of the auditorium may be seen.

St. Mary's Girls Hold Sale Today

St. Mary's Girls' Bible Class W.A. will hold a sale of work and home cooking, and conduct a cafeteria this afternoon at St. Mary's Hall. Mrs. C. D. Schofield will officiate at the formal opening at 3 o'clock.

CARDS AT COLWOOD

COLWOOD, Nov. 16.—The weekly card party was held in the Colwood Hall Wednesday evening, with a very good attendance of members. Progressive five hundred was played. The ladies' prize was awarded to Mrs. G. M. Piercy and the gentlemen's to Mr. A. G. Tyler. At the conclusion of cards refreshments were served.

Sketch Club Exhibition

The Sketch Club of the Island Arts and Crafts will hold an exhibition of the sketches made during their summer outings on Monday afternoon in the club rooms, Union Bank Building. Afternoon tea will also be served. The Sketch Club met on Tuesday last in the club rooms and will continue to do so on every Tuesday during the winter months, drawing from models and still life. Monday's exhibition and tea will take the place of the ordinary weekly meeting, and members will be asked to attend again on Tuesday, November 27.

EAST SOOKE HALL UNDER DISCUSSION

Farmers' Institute Decides to Inquire as to Cost—Annual Meeting Date Fixed

The monthly meeting of the East Sooke Farmers' Institute, was held at Ragley on Wednesday evening last, at which twenty-three were present.

As the main business was to decide about the hall there was no speaker. After a good discussion, giving everyone a chance of expressing their views it was finally decided that the secretary should write to Messrs. Scafe, Baker & Richardson and ask what sized hall could be built for $1,000, and the cost of lumber for same. It was stipulated that it must be built in such a way that it can be added to easily as funds come in.

The secretary and Mr. Arthur Aylard were chosen as delegates to attend the advisory board meeting on November 23.

A resolution was passed to lay before the board, also two resolutions to be sent to the Federal member, Mr. C. H. Dickie.

The question of ordering a carload of feed was gone into, and the president and vice-president (Messrs. G. Ball and P. Thornett), were asked to interview different dealers and obtain prices.

The date for the annual meeting was fixed for Wednesday, December 12, and this will be held at Rocky Point School. The date was put forward this year in hope of better weather. As the estimates for the hall are asked to be sent in before that date, it is hoped that all members and those wishing to join, will make a point of being present.

The hall, it is hoped will be of great benefit to the vic district. The younger members of the community are particularly asked to come and help. The secretary wishes to remind members that their subscriptions will be due and only those who have paid will be entitled to vote in the election of the officers for the next year.

The English sportsman became friendly with the keeper of the only store the Highland village boasted. One day he said, "Well, Angus, I understand you're the postmaster, the shopkeeper, the justice of the peace and county councillor for this district?" "Aye, sir," replied the native. "Ye might say I'm the Mussolini of Glenochty."

Coats for All Occasions

Most Striking Dresses Have Coats Which Harmonize or Match—Lovely Materials Used With Fur

For every form of dress and for every time of day there are coats, says The London Times. At no season have there been so many, whether short or long, transparent or solid, whether for dinner or bridge or dancing, for wearing at home, in restaurants and in theatres, for breakfasting in and for smoking in, for the country, for motoring, and for morning walks. It is difficult to say why there should be so many coats for wearing indoors, but the tendency is to wear less under a frock and make up for the deficiency with a coat.

Coats undeniably add to the rhythm of dress. Lace frocks for volants at one side, are supplemented with short lace coats, also with a side movement. The coats have wide mouthed sleeves, but the dresses are sleeveless. In pale laces they are more attractive than the tea gowns of old, and with or without a coat are useful at informal dinners. There are many variations of these ensembles in new and in accepted materials. There are short jeweled coats that are an improvement on the heavily patterned coats of last season; at lightly jeweled and made with a dipping movement at the back, they are of georgette, chiffon or nylon. If not too definitely embroidered in one color, or if made on a pale ground they can be worn with many frocks, and take away the look of over-dressing, which a low cut evening frock has on a minor occasion.

FUR WRAPS
For afternoon bridge there are ensembles of embossed velvet for those who like to have dress and coat matching. Coats of faconne velvet on nylon are finished with long fringe to remove the cut look that a short coat gives to a full figure; and they are made with frocks of georgette trimmed with the faconne velvet. They often give just that comfort over the shoulders and back which a long session calls for. In club wraps can be slipped off or on. Some of them are in dolman shapes of moleskin, which is a fur that drapes well; others are made as short wrap coats of mink or Japanese velvet, and are finished with a long fringe to remove the cut look of movement. All ensembles have passed away, and these short fur wraps are usually made with a side movement at the back and drape skillfully in front. Over uneven draperies it has its claims against the gleaming short coat with its easy adjustment and pretty movement.

LOVELY BROCADES USED
The short dolman coat in material is a revival of the old-fashioned dolman, but is meant for the evening, and in brocade tissue has appeared over a red silk net dance frock. The short evening coat for indoors is a more adjustable wrap than a long scarf or an evening shawl. The scarf, however, persists in its use, and is made of gorgeous light transparent laces on nylon and of embroidered laces and brocade velvets. It is sometimes a great square, and can be a dinner wrap by being tied at the shoulders and arranged at the waist; or it can be a shawl when it is of rich brocade bordered with gold lace which will hang in a side movement at the back and drape skillfully in front. Over uneven draperies it has its claims against the gleaming short coat with its easy adjustment and pretty movement.

FOR EVENING WEAR
Since skirts are now so even, and may dip at the back or the front or the sides, flowered lame coats tend to show too many ends and to cut the line of evening frocks. For the same reason fur coats are not so useful as they were as evening wraps. The new evening wraps dip and move in various ways, and many are made to give completeness to dresses. Over a white satin frock with dipping panels at each side and a circular movement longer at the back is worn a black velvet wrap lined with white satin and with a white fox collar. A jewelled frock of midnight blue lace has a wrap coat of the same blue velvet lined in pale rose and collared in fox in the same tone. Some of these rich evening wraps are of heavy satin that has a polished sheen; others are of rich lame lined in velvet and with swinging draperies at the back. As the backs of evening gowns show many big bows and semi-bustles to balance the new princess lines of the front, so do the new evening coats at the back help that line. Moire wraps also are worn with moire evening dresses. The richer the material the more important is the fur trimming. A princess frock of champagne antique moire has a wrap of the same with a gold design woven into it and a collar of dark mink.

Basket Social Held by Pro Patria Branch

Under the auspices of the entertainment committee of the Pro Patria Branch, Canadian Legion, a successful box social and dance was held last evening in the clubrooms, Courtney Street. Mr. C. A. Gill, the president, was chairman. A delightful programme was given, songs being sung by Mr. T. Rhoades, Mr. A. Jackson and Mr. A. Rigby. Dances were given by little Edith Rundall. Following the programme the baskets were auctioned, resulting in a substantial sum of money. The winner of the best decorated basket was Mrs. Ray; best novelty basket, Mrs. Davies; Hon. J. H. Hinchliffe and Mrs. Hinchliffe were the judges. The bean-guessing contest was won by Mr. A. Cliff and Hon. J. H. Hinchliffe, the prizes being presented by Mr. H. D. Twigg. Refreshments and dancing brought the evening to a close.

Fashion Fancies

By Marie Belmont

Here is an interestingly new coat fashion for you. Many of the sports coats use two furs for trimming. For instance, as in the illustrated model, the lining may be of leopard, while the collar, which reaches to the hem on both sides, and the cuffs are of black lynx. Kashmir, a deservedly popular fabric, is the material used for this coat.

Pioneer Women of Vancouver Island

Remarkable Story of Early White Women On Island Described

Mrs. Lugin Shaw Tells Thrilling Tales of Heroism, Sacrifice and Courage of the Mothers, Wives and Daughters of Vancouver Island in Colonial Days in Forest, Fort and Farm

Scheme Initiated by Women's Canadian Club Comes to Fruition With This Book

"It is from a man's standpoint that nearly all history has been written." Thus notes the author of "Pioneer Women of Vancouver Island," the fascinating volume which the Women's Canadian Club has just brought off the press, and which will be put into circulation after Tuesday next. And because this women's organization has sponsored a history written from the women's standpoint, and those women, the wives, daughters, and sisters who with such high courage and spirit shared with their men folk the work of planting civilization on the Western frontier, of making Vancouver Island ready for its big present-day population and its comparatively luxurious style of life, they are entitled to the profound gratitude of everyone who is alive to the significance of history at all.

The book is one of the most readable documents of the kind ever compiled, and is, likely to be very much more in demand than was ever dreamed of by those who conceived the idea. Unlike most records of its ilk, it is very much more than a mere statement of cold facts. It is a human document, pulsing with life, picturing as if one were living them oneself the real experiences of real people, placed within the pages by one who has a sympathetic understanding and appreciation. The author, N. de Bertrand Lugin, herself a Canadian, with a keen sense of the deep significance and splendid character of these pioneer women, has expressed her intention in the introduction to the volume.

"It has to do with the great issues of loving and mating, of birth and death, and the struggle for existence under terrible odds. It is the describing of the first unfolding of a nation, and it has the simplicity and grandeur of an epic. It is more than a story. Like the Odyssey and the Iliad, it is drama and music combined. It suggests the sweep of tides on lonely shores, rush of wind through the forest, dip of Indian paddles, chant of the turning waves, stillness of the long trail, the sharp cry of a woman in travail, and the wail the Victoria organization's finances justified the undertaking the publication of a similar history was decided upon. This was in the Autumn of 1927. The committee consisted of before the full membership, and it was received with the greatest enthusiasm.

About seven hundred subscribers were guaranteed. Then the work began. The greatest praise is due to the executive which was in power during this busy period of organizing work: Mrs. Peter McNaughton, president; Miss Kathleen Agnew, past president; Mrs. C. Spottford, (now president), first vice-president; Mrs. Angus Campbell, second vice-president; Mrs. H. P. Crowe, secretary; Mrs. P. B. Scullard, treasurer; convener of book committee, Mrs. E.

C. Hart, M.A.; Mrs. J. S. Plaskett, Mrs. C. W. Bradshaw, Mrs. W. G. Wilson, Mrs. S. E. Tolmie, Mrs. D. E. Campbell and Mrs. P. L. Green. Of these, Mrs. E. C. Hart, convener of the book committee, should be singled out for special mention. Hers has been the burden of responsibility, and hers the task of co-ordinating and organizing the various energies mobilized for the stupendous task of compiling, arranging, printing, publishing, etc. The book being done by one upon it, it was necessary to guarantee the authenticity of the facts. The very best source of British Columbia's history, as all students of the subject know, is the Provincial Library and Archives. To secure co-operation with this department the committee consulted the Hon. Minister of Education, Hon. Dr. MacLean, head of the department. He not only gave his consent, but immediately and generously gave authority for Mr. John Hosie, provincial archivist and president of the British Columbia Historical Association to act as editor of the book and give every assistance in his power. Mrs. Shaw was engaged as author, and Mrs. Uthoff as artist, the latter working under the direction of Mrs. Fitzherbert Bullen, who was entrusted with the cover design and other artistic and illustrative features of the work. The printing has been done by The Colonist Printing & Publishing Company.

THE DEDICATION
The dedication reads as follows: In order that we, and those who follow us, may remember the courage, strength of purpose and nobility of character which governed the lives of the pioneer women of Vancouver Island, these pages are lovingly dedicated to their memory by the Women's Canadian Club of Victoria, British Columbia.

This is dignified and simple, as becomes the memories of these commemorated.
In a foreword the club extends its thanks to Mr. John Hosie, editor, to N. de Bertrand Lugin, to Mrs. Fitzherbert Bullen for her cover design and valuable advice with the artistic side of the work, to Mrs. Uthoff for her drawings, to the Provincial Government for its assistance, and to the many pioneers and their descendants who helped with manuscripts, stories, photographs, etc.

Among those mentioned in the last respect are Mrs. Dennis Harris, Mrs. Richard Jones, Miss Crease, Mr. Hugo Beaver, Mrs. A. E. Plante (Nanaimo), the Misses Tolmie, Mrs. Verrinder, Miss Annie Harvey, Mrs. Jones (granddaughter of Mrs. John Manson), Miss Penlayson, Mrs. Dodds, Mr. J. R. Anderson, Mr. R. T. Williams, Mr. Arthur Fellows (London, England), Mr. Frank Higgins, Mr. Charles Lombard, Mr. C. C. Pemberton, Mr. John N. Evans (Duncan), Mr. J. A. Schubert, Major G. G. Aitken, Mr. J. B. Munro, Major Norton, and many others.

EARLIEST DAYS
It seems almost incredible that there are still living men and women who knew Victoria before it was Victoria. The pages of "The Pioneer Women of Vancouver Island" contain the personal stories of one or two such. They are not only remarkable because of the great age of the narrator, but possess in themselves a peculiarly lively interest because of the strangeness, in these times, of some of the adventures of which they tell.

If it contained nothing more than the story of Mrs. Manson and Mrs. Mohun, venerable residents, each in her ninety-fourth year, the book would be worth bringing to the attention of the public. There are some other fascinating stories, not, however, all told by the people themselves. Mrs. Blinkhorn tells the story of Mrs. Dobbs; another peculiarly interesting story is Mrs. Uthoff's. And there are many others.

Mrs. Manson lives near Royal Oak, and her reminiscences, recited to the author of the book, are graphic. She was born near Port Langley, and went to school in the old Camosun Fort, Victoria, her only surviving school-fellow being an ex-servant of the people who lived in the old house.

At the Port, the author gives prominent place of course, to Lady Douglas, and there follow in due course Mrs. Staines, the first woman to arrive in the colony from England (1860), although Mrs. Ross, Mrs. Work and Miss Penlayson were already there; Eliza Anderson, from New Caledonia, who married James MacKenzie, a member of the Hudson's Bay Company; Agnes Anderson, her sister, who came later; Mrs. Crigge, one of the most loved and hospitable of the early women of the island; Mrs. Mout, who was a passenger on the same vessel as the Cridges, the Marquis of Bute; Mrs. Macdonald, wife of Senator Macdonald, to whom the historian is indebted for a description of Mrs. Crigge as she appeared the first Sunday after her arrival; Mrs. McKay, who was already here when the Cridges arrived; and Mrs. Helms, who was the English bride; Mrs. Helms, who was the first of her first acquaintances in the colony; Mrs. Susan Pemberton and Miss Emmaline Tod, who lived in the fort for a time; Miss Pemberton afterwards becoming principal of the Annapolis College, and Miss Tod afterwards becoming the Mrs. Edward Mout, Mrs. W. A. Mout, Mrs. L. H. Mout, Mrs. Henry Wootton, Mrs. Fellers (afterwards Mrs. Smythe), Mrs. Kent, the Misses Piddell, Miss Kate Reid (afterwards wife of Senator Macdonald), Mrs. Charles Kent, Mrs. Forbes-Vernon, Mrs. I. W. Powell and Mrs. P. T. Johnston. Something is told about each of these and their contribution to the artistic life of the community.

One of the serio-comic episodes of the time happened at a concert given by Mde. L. Hottelere and other artists. A family of respectable negroes attended. Some Americans in the audience objected, and although they could not get support to their objection, official or otherwise, they showed their resentment in spiteful fashion by dumping a sack of flour over the colored people. The house was full of officers from

Some Americans in the audience objected, and although they could not get support to their objection, official or otherwise, they showed their resentment in spiteful fashion by dumping a sack of flour over the colored people. The house was full of officers from the most loved and hospitable of the early women of the island; Mrs. Mout, who was a passenger on the same vessel as the Cridges, the Marquis of Bute; Mrs. Macdonald, wife of Senator Macdonald, to whom the historian is indebted for a description of Mrs. Crigge as she appeared the first Sunday after her arrival; Mrs. McKay, who was already here when the Cridges arrived; and Mrs. Helms, who was the English bride; Mrs. Helms, who was the first of her first acquaintances in the colony; Mrs. Susan Pemberton and Miss Emmaline Tod, who lived in the fort for a time; Miss Pemberton afterwards becoming principal of the Annapolis College, and Miss Tod afterwards becoming the Mrs. Edward Mout, Mrs. W. A. Mout, Mrs. L. H. Mout, Mrs. Henry Wootton, Mrs. Fellers (afterwards Mrs. Smythe), Mrs. Kent, the Misses Piddell, Miss Kate Reid (afterwards wife of Senator Macdonald), Mrs. Charles Kent, Mrs. Forbes-Vernon, Mrs. I. W. Powell and Mrs. P. T. Johnston. Something is told about each of these and their contribution to the artistic life of the community.

One of the serio-comic episodes of the time happened at a concert given by Mde. L. Hottelere and other artists. A family of respectable negroes attended. Some Americans in the audience objected, and although they could not get support to their objection, official or otherwise, they showed their resentment in spiteful fashion by dumping a sack of flour over the colored people. The house was full of officers from

The steady drip of water from your radiator is the outward sign of certain engine trouble—overheating, scored cylinders and sloppy pistons. At the first sign of leakage pour a can of Whiz Radiator Stop Leak into your radiator. Instantly the leak will stop. Whiz Radiator Stop Leak is the most efficient preparation ever produced and is absolutely harmless to the cooling system.

Carry a can for safety.

surveyor-general of the Hudson's Bay Company, came to Canada with Governor Colville, the party Mrs. A. F. Pemberton (nee Brew) was one of the very few Irish ladies to come to the colony in those early days. Mrs. George Hills was another of the hostesses known far and wide in the long ago.

SOME ERRORS
Some curious historical errors have crept into the text, which should receive attention when the book is revised for another edition. The fort at Victoria is described as having bastions on the northwest and southeast, while the two bastions which existed were on the northeast and southwest.

In the story of the McKenzie's of Craigflower and Lake Hill the name of Governor Colville, of the Hudson's Bay Company, who was largely responsible for the coming of Mr. McKenzie to Vancouver Island, is wrongly spelled "Calwell." How much Mr. McKenzie deplored Mr. Colville's early demise, and how seriously it discouraged his future plans is clearly set down in his letters.

The account of the Puget Sound Agricultural Society farms is also lacking in missing Viewfield Farm, Esquimalt, from which Macaulay Point obtains its name. Mr. Macaulay being under the jurisdiction of Mr. McKenzie.

The date of the terrible smallpox epidemic of 1892 is wrongly given in the story of Mrs. Bailey, and the reference to the Point Ellice Bridge disaster suggests revised version of the story.

In references to the Finlayson house, recently removed, at the intersection of Bay and Government Street, in one case it is reported as still standing and in the other as having been removed, the latter being the correct version. There are similar slips, some very obvious which ought to be removed as blemishes from a volume of great interest.

SOME PIONEER HOUSES KNOWN TO OLD-TIMERS

The reader will find many interesting descriptions of houses constructed in the fifties and sixties by pioneer families, many of which have been standing within the memory of the present generation. Among those which may still be seen are the old Heinichen house on Elliott Street, the first house built across the Bay; "Cloverdale," the original Tolmie home, and the first stone house on the island; "Craigflower," the old MacKenzie home on the Gorge; the old Craigflower schoolhouse nearby; the little log cabin occupied by the Staines of St. Ann when they first began to teach; "Fernhill," Lampson Street, the Pooley home; "Pentireau," Port Street, the Crease home, and "Glenvale," St. Charles Street, the Pemberton home. Other old houses of which descriptions are given are the Finlayson's at Rock Bay, the first summer house on the island, the red-

TONIC, Laxative, to throw off colds, build up resistance, and fortify the system against grip and "flu."

A Policy That Pays Cash Dividends

Every 12 months the holder of a Northern 20-Pay Life Coupon Savings Policy receives guaranteed cash dividends—dividends that increase each year for 20 years.

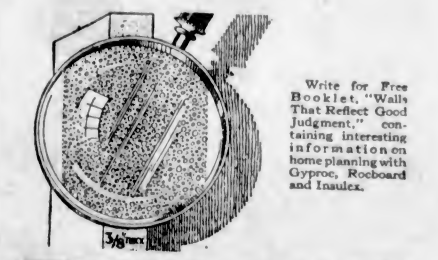

This unusually attractive plan provides the protection your family needs—plus interest on your money. The yearly dividends are in the form of coupons which can be cashed annually—each coupon having a greater cash value than the one preceding. If you prefer not to cash the coupons the policy will be paid-up in 15 instead of 20 years—your dependents protected without a cent further cost.

Three Tied for Lead in Oregon Golf Tournament

Dr. Willing, Mel Smith and Abe Espinosa Bracketed—Farrell Misses Chance to Go to Top—Phil Taylor Tied for Fifth Place

PORTLAND, Nov. 16.—Portland golfers were two to one against the outside world in the lead for the 1928 title to the Oregon $5,000 open golf tournament as the first half of the seventy-two-hole medal play was completed here today. The finish of the first thirty-six holes found one amateur and two professionals tied for the lead.

Dr. O. F. Willing, Portland, who finished the first eighteen holes in a

DR. WILLING

Portland amateur, who is tied with two pros for first place at the end of the first thirty-six holes in the Oregon open golf tournament. Willing has been dominating steady form and has a total of 146.

He for third place, continued with the same steady game that brought him a 73 yesterday. Another 73 today, while some of the famous visiting stars were slipping, brought Willing up to a tie for first place with Mel Smith, Portland professional, and Abe Espinosa, Chicago pro. Smith, who was tied for second at 72 on the first round, came in with a 74 today to place at the top with Willing and Espinosa. Each had a total of 146 for the two-day play.

Espinosa, who held a two-stroke lead on the field at the end of the first round, slipped on his first nine today with the result that he finished with a 76 for the day. He had 41 going out, but clipped par one stroke on the second nine, which he shot in 35.

Just one stroke behind the leaders came Johnny Farrell, national open champion. Horton Smith, young professional from Joplin, Mo., and Mortie Dutra, Tacoma pro., all tied for second place with totals of 147.

Farrell lost a chance to step out in front of the field today. He was brilliant on the first nine, which he turned in 35. A 38 coming home, however, meant the difference between leading the field and a tie for second. A ten-inch putt that failed to go down on the home green kept Farrell out of a tie for first, and another missed shot farther back along the trail prevented him from taking the lead.

Dutra and Horton Smith, who tied with Farrell for second place, were the only two players to break par in the second round. Dutra turned in the best performance of the day, when he came in with a two under par card of 70. Smith finished one under with a 71.

BURKE HOLDS PAR

There was just one other player who matched his strokes against par and got away with it. He was Billy Burke, of New York, who played a perfect round of par 72, going out in 36 and coming back in the same figure.

Burke tied Walter Hagen for third place in 148. He was not up to his usual form, but was not worried. He still is in a position to win, he believes. Hagen was four strokes over his first round when he turned in a 76 today. Tommy Armour, who is defending his title of Oregon champion, bettered his first day's round on Thursday and got a 74 today, which gives him a total of 149 and a fourth place with Johnny Golden, of Paterson, N.J. Golden dropped from a 72 on the first round to a 77 today.

HEENEY WANTS TO BATTLE DEMPSEY

New Zealand Heavyweight's Big Ambition is to Fight With Ex-Champion

TORONTO, Nov. 16.—"I think I will be the next champion," Tom Heenev, who recently took a terrific beating from Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight champion, stated here yesterday. The New Zealander, with his bride, was in Toronto en route to New York.

"The bout I had with Tunney taught me a great deal," he said. "I made a lot of mistakes in that fight that I will not make again."

He doesn't think there is a heavyweight who can knock him down. He admits Tunney did, but said he couldn't make him stay down. He will go into training upon his arrival in New York and hopes to get into the ring again by January or February.

Tom's greatest ambition, he divulged, was to meet Jack Dempsey, former champion, in the ring. "He is the greatest of them all and I will never consider myself a really experienced fighter until I have had a fight with Jack."

MRS. JACKSON WINS LANSOWNE CUP AT UPLANDS GOLF CLUB

Mrs. Jackson won the Lansdowne Cup at the Uplands Golf Club yesterday, when she brushed aside Mrs. Sanders in the final eighteen-hole match, to win 7 and 6. Mrs. Sanders, who usually is a strong iron player, was completely off with this club, and failed at any time to hit her stride. The winner was straight down all shots, and her woods carried great length. She was five up at the turn.

LIONS CLUB TO BE FORMED HERE

District Governor Confers Task on Vancouver Unit—History of Organization Is Traced

The organization of a sister Lions club at Victoria was the duty conferred this week upon the Vancouver Lions by Mr. Ray Green, of Bremerton, Wash., district governor of the Lions Club International, in an address delivered before the club at a meeting held here last night.

Mr. Green said the Lions Club was born during the third year of the Great War, when all were sacrificing personal gain for the good of the whole. It was founded, and its traditions were written out of the great desire for public service that emanated therefrom.

"We are part of the great spirit of the age—crusaders of the spirit of unselfish service born during the conflict of 1914-18," the speaker continued. "No man is sufficient unto himself, therefore, we must work jointly, uniting our strength, and we may be a real asset to our own and neighboring communities," he urged.

It is the co-operation of all men together that makes success, and we shall feel well repaid if we have brought a little sunshine into place where there was none before," Mr. Green stated.

A stump speech is a speech that's never made from a stump.

DERBY, Eng., Nov. 16.—The Derby Cup handicap over the mile and six furlongs was won this afternoon by T. Davidson's three-year-old Constant Son, by Son in Law out of Constant Lady.

D. Leahy's West Wicklow was second, two lengths back, and Contessa Skellie's four-year-old Lord Land was third, another four lengths back. Fifteen ran.

The betting was 20 to 1 against Constant Son, 7 to 1 against West Wicklow, and 20 to 1 against Lord Land.

The race, the last but one of any importance of the flat racing season, is worth $4,800 in addition to the cup.

"BARBERRY BUSH"

One Girl's Marriage Problems
By KATHLEEN NORRIS

When Barry had put on his muffler and coat and pulled down his cap, when he had kissed her affectionately and remarked with elaborate carelessness: "I may be back in half an hour," and when she was left alone with the baby, Barbara, obeying a sudden impulse, went up the patio's outside stairway, packed with wet leaves, and entered one of the dark, damp bedrooms above.

Through the slits of its shutters she could look out across a flat pasture to the East, where, a quarter of a mile away, the Bettan-cabin stood under some dismal plumes of eucalyptus, and the highway wound between two shabby lines of fencing.

On the road near the Bettan-cabin a muddy car was waiting; Fox Madison's car. And toward it the figure of Barry, in his shabby overcoat with his cap pulled down, was making its way.

"Well, what of it?" Barbara asked herself. "I suppose that's him. And after all, I'm not Barry—I'm me. The thing for me to do is work my own way out, not his!"

Barry and Fox had not gone a mile upon their way before she and the baby were busy in the farmyard, raking, singing, splashing about vigorously.

Maria Bettancourt came over with a letter for her. "It was from Link Mackenzie. Barbara opened it with a little thrill of pleasure.

"Would your baby like an Air-dale puppy? Queenie surprised us with four beauties a day or two ago—all males. If Kate would like it, I'll bring it or send it down. I hope you farmers like this weather, every one here is sick of it. See you soon."

That was all. But it seemed to make the whole world bright and happy for Barbara. It was like Link to think of this, and to remember her baby's name.

The warm pleasantness of it relained with her all through the quiet lonely hours. But after a serene supper, a placed night and an unusual luxury of a bath before breakfast, Barbara was angered and agitated again—and was distressed to find herself becoming so—by the chance discovery of an opened envelope in the wood box.

It was from the office of Today's, a dated ten days earlier; and within it was a brief, cordial note. Mr. du Spinn would please find enclosed a check for $18 in payment for his sonnet, "The Bad Baby."

Barbara stood with the note in her hand, absolutely transfixed with anger and surprise. Then she burned it and went slowly about her morning work again.

But not in the bright mood in which the sunny, frosty morning had first found her. She was sick with a sense of helpless resentment and shock. He had got a check for $18 and had con-cluded it. He was spending it now, perhaps, on a poker hand. And she and the baby—and the new baby—

"This is bad for me!" she said aloud as gusts of uncontrollable rage physically shook her. What did it matter, $18. No life was either made or unmade for $18.

Barry, why did you deceive me about that poem that Today's Verse took, and about meeting Fox Madison in the road yesterday? she burst out suddenly, hours later.

She had borne all she could bear since his return; she had been smiling, friendly and interested until she could put a force upon herself no longer. Barry had appeared at about seven o'clock, once again vivacious and tempered, full of town gossip, and eager to go. Again he had heaped her wood box and praised her cooking; he had looked well, and had been full of his own peculiarly charming animation and high spirits.

He appeared untroubled, but she saw the color creep up under his clear skin at her first questions.

"I forgot the check," he admitted. "But where did you think I got the money to buy you the new meat chopper and the little hot water bag? He added reproachfully. He had brought them both, Barry was wonderfully sympathetic in his choice of presents. I owed Tomas $2," he went on, and knew from his tone that he felt he was making his case and was gaining confidence. "And yesterday, walking over to his house, I saw Fox in the road."

"Waiting!" Barbara supplied bitterly. "Waiting nothing, he was stuck in the mud. I helped him get loose, and he drove me into town—that was all!"

She did not believe it, but there was no way of proving anything. "How could you give Tomas $2 out of an $18 check?" Her tone still hostile and distrustful.

"I thought Tomas could cash it," Barry had her on every point; she was quite helpless in his hands. And the dispute had only served to rouse him to a sort of smouldering ugliness. He was waiting, now, for the opportunity for trouble.

On Sunday Harry Pott "came down, to be delightfully friendly with Barbara, charming with the baby—Barbara noted that Barry had no objection to the customary "Uncle Harry" here—and full of a new scheme for Barry.

She listened at first skeptically, then eagerly, serving her eggs hastily and her tapioca pudding. Harry ate ravenously and praised everything and talked all the time. He wanted Barry and Barbara to move into Cottonwood again, Barry to take a half-day job with his own real estate firm.

"You don't have to work mornings," Harry assured him enthusiastically. "You can write poetry, mornings. And in the afternoon show people the Manor Farmlets—they sell themselves. I tell you! Barbara'd be among her old crowd

Farm in West Good Enough for Him

MR. SAMUEL GEORGE DODGE
He is a rather portly man, but with a keen, clear, frosty morning in his eyes, and a smile that was a sense of helpless resentment and shock. He had got a check for $18 and had con-cluded it. He was spending it now, perhaps, on a poker hand. And she and the baby—and the new baby—

"they tell me Amy and Ward are coming up."

The girl's heart soared at the idea. Oh, it didn't matter how plain a cottage they had to take, how poor they were, how many opportunities the gossip were given to say that Barbara Atherton hadn't made much of a match of it, that she was pretty "small potatoes" (these days) just to be back among voices and people, electric lights and telephone bells, sidewalks and gas stoves again! Just to get a daily paper, to have one's eggs delivered in a box, one's milk in a bottle once more!

"Barry'd get $85," she mused. "Yep, to start with. But commissions!" Barry answered eagerly. "He'd make a lot on the side."

"We'd have to pay $25 rent," Barbara mused.

"Well, yes, you'd have to pay that," Harry admitted. And Barbara saw that he secretly had thought that they would have to pay more.

"That's what Mrs. Oslter pays, down near the Union High School," she continued.

"Well, yes—if you'd live there, Barbara," Harry said doubtfully, in the tone of one who would not say "Oh, in a minute!" she answered, with a confident laugh.

"Well, then!" Harry said, brightening. And immediately he adieu to Barry, carelessly. "You couldn't come into town with me now and see Holiday? He's always at home here afternoons and you could have a little talk."

"Why, I don't know—I hate to leave Barberty Bush all by herself," Barry answered hesitatingly. Fired with brighter hopes than he had known for two long years, Barbara, however, insisted upon their both departing at once without an instant's delay. He gave the dishes—she could do the dishes, she had nothing else to do!

"And, please, please, Barry darling, talk as if you were a Napoleon of finance," she pleaded with her final kiss. "Make Holiday think you can sell seven lots a day!"

Proud when Barry came home the next day he brought a guest with him and there was no more talk of real estate, commissions, a move into town, or the little cottages down near Mrs. Oslter.

At The Playhouses

COLISEUM "Teams" seem to be coming into their own in pictures. Karl Dane and George K. Arthur, who recently scored so heavily in "Rookies," are co-starring in a new feature, "Baby Mine," produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer from the famous stage play, and now being shown at the Coliseum Theatre. They play college boys in a comical tangle of love and stolen babies, with Charlotte Greenwood, famous stage comedienne and a notable cast, directed by Robert Z. Leonard.

VARIETY "Pajamas," Fox Films' THEATRE delightful comedy drama starring Olive Borden, will be shown at the Variety Theatre tonight. This is the story of a spoiled little rich girl who is cured of her high-handed whims by a modern young man in an old-fashioned way. Also on the same bill is "Blood Will Tell."

PLAYHOUSE "Lady Windermere's Fan," adapted by Julian Josephson from the famous Oscar Wilde play, will be shown for the last time today at the Playhouse Theatre. It has one of the most brilliant casts ever assembled in one production, including Irene Rich who plays Mrs. Elynor, Ronald Colman, and Edward Martindel as Lord Augustus.

COLUMBIA Doing strenuous athletic stunts such as running, jumping, running and racing, one mile above sea level, is strenuous work, but this is one of the conditions encountered in making "Code of the Scarlet." Ken Maynard's latest Western feature, showing for the first time today at the Columbia Theatre. The action scenes were taken at Crestline, near Lake Arrowhead, in the Sierra Madre Mountains.

DOMINION Convicts are among THEATRE Lon Chaney's best critics. Among the most interesting of his fan mail are letters from various prisons throughout the United States, where convicts are shown pictures in recreation periods, and Chaney says that some of the most valuable hints as to characterizations come from the men behind bars. Chaney appears as a police detective in his latest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer vehicle, "While the City Sleeps," now playing at the Dominion Theatre.

CAPITOL Duke Martin believes THEATRE that advertising pays, but not so well as villainy. He is cast as the hard-boiled first sergeant in Paramount's Richard Dix starring picture, "Moran of the Marines," now showing at the Capitol Theatre. Martin formerly sold advertising for a Coast newspaper before entering pictures. The stage presentation will be offered three times today, and includes the final appearances of Harold Bechtel, the singing M.C.; the Desires Sisters, a clever dance duo; Betty Anderson, the ever-popular soprano, and Lucille Enderly, the famous woman baritone soloist.

Playhouse Shows Musical Comedy On Monday Next

Starting Monday, November 19, the Playhouse Theatre will present Tommy Parker and his company. The company will consist of two men and four women, each one a specialist in his or her line. The type of shows put on by this company will be what is known as musical comedy tabloids, having comedy, plot, continuity, singing, dancing, etc. Mr. Les Everson, who is well known to Victoria people, will be the featured singer and will be leading man. Miss Cleo Goffe, a girl with worlds of personality and possessing a beautiful lyric soprano voice, will be the leading woman. Tommy Parker, the producing comedian, comes to Victoria with musical comedy experience throughout the entire United States. Altogether, this stock company promises to be perhaps the most versatile aggregation of performers that has ever played in Victoria.

Gordon McLeod Players Open at Royal on Monday

"Miss Elizabeth's Prisoner," which comes to the Royal Victoria Theatre on Monday with the sensational young London actor, Gordon McLeod, as its star, is a play that bears the stamp of complete success and popularity in London and the provinces. When played by the great Lewis Waller, it was rated as one of the brightest productions in years. The prisoner is in the enemy's hands through no fault of his own, a fact which the beautiful young heroine of the play recognizes. They fall in love. Then this highly spirited but patriotic girl realizes that she has allowed her heart to place her in a strange position. Love pulls one way and duty the other. Romance and comedy are magnificently worked out to an unexpected ending.

"Miss Elizabeth's Prisoner" will be seen on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings only. Commencing Thursday, for the last three days of the week, Mr. McLeod and his company offer Cleo Goffe's gripping play which had such long runs both in London and New York. "A Bill of Divorcement," in England, Mr. McLeod played the stellar role for sixty-two consecutive weeks.

Harold Bechtel Bids Farewell to Capitol's Patrons

No doubt patrons of the Capitol Theatre will learn with regret that tonight will be the last appearance of Mr. Harold Bechtel, the singing master of ceremonies. During his extended engagement at the Capitol Theatre he has made a host of friends in this city, who have looked forward each week to the clean and entertaining which he has always provided. Mr. Bechtel is the new singing master of ceremonies, who will take Mr. Bechtel's place, comes very highly recommended to this city. He has just finished an extended engagement as master of ceremonies for the West Coast Theatres, Fanchon & Marco. Mr. Bechtel has had vast experience in this line of entertainment, and will no doubt soon become a very popular addition to the Capitol entertainment as now presented.

DOUGLAS HOTEL WILL REOPEN ITS CABARET TONIGHT

Tonight the Douglas Hotel will reopen its cabaret with a clever company of real cabaret entertainers. The company is known as Tommy Parker's Rosebud Polles, and consists of six entertainers, and will be singing dancing, ensemble numbers and comedy specialties. Les Everson, who is well known in Victoria, will be the featured soloist and will assist Tommy Parker as master of ceremonies. Miss Cleo Goffe, a beautiful soprano, will sing several numbers. Miss Grace Gendron, a clever dancer, will present a Spanish dance. Miss Beatrice Dayton will do an Oriental dance, and Miss Nita Erdahl will present a snappy toe dance. Tommy and Les will keep things moving with impromptu humor, and with their vast experience in this line will enliven the programme. Public dancing numbers will be played between entertainment features.

MORE DUTY ON CANADA GOODS

Under Revised Australian Tariff, Effective January 1, 1929, Eastern Exports Via Vancouver to Suffer

HIGH COMMISSIONER ADVISES OF CHANGE

TORONTO, Nov. 16.—A statement issued by the Australian high commissioner's office in New York, published here today, indicates that goods of Canadian origin shipped to Australia from Eastern Canada via Vancouver will be subjected to increased duty under the revised Australian tariff which comes into effect January 1, 1929.

The full charges from Eastern Canada to Vancouver will be included in the value for duty on goods of Canadian origin where the goods are shipped from Vancouver, but if the goods are shipped via the United States, only the tariff charges from Canada to the United States border will be included, the border point being regarded as the "port of export" under the act.

Under the present tariff duty has been charged only on an amount equal to the freight to the adjacent border, whether the shipment went by Canada or not, but after January the full rail charges from the source to a Canadian port will be added to the value of the goods when they are appraised for duty.

Explaining the change the statement, which originally came from the Australian Customs Department, says:

"Thus, if goods are manufactured in Canada, say at Toronto, and shipped to Australia via New York, the freight charges which are included in the value for duty are the inland freight charges from Toronto to the United States border. A similar practice has been followed for many years when goods have been shipped from Eastern Canada to Australia via Vancouver, that is, duty has been charged only on an amount equal to the freight from way Toronto to the adjacent border, and not duty on freight to the actual port of shipment."

The statement says the present act has been carefully reviewed and it has been decided that the practice followed in the latter case is not strictly in accordance with the act.

Western Railroads to Try Plan Soon of Second Class Tickets From Coast

For the first time since 1918, Western railroads have decided to try the experiment of issuing second class coach tickets from Pacific Northwest cities to Chicago, St. Louis and points as far south as New Orleans, according to word received yesterday by Mr. A. C. Chapman, Jr., agent here for the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railroad.

Tickets, involving a substantial reduction in the regular fares, will be on sale from February 1, 1929, to March 31. Westbound rates to the Pacific Coast will be in effect from March 15 to April 30.

The experiment is an attempt to bring about more travel over the railways of persons unable to afford the present rates, and to encourage settlers. The second class tickets are not accepted in sleeping cars. Each fare entitles a traveler to 100 pounds of baggage free, and fifty pounds on each children's ticket.

SHIP WORKERS GET PAY RAISE

INCREASE OF THREE CENTS AN HOUR GOES INTO EFFECT ON DECEMBER 1

Shipping Federation of British Columbia

Over time

VANCOUVER, Nov. 16.—The annual contract between the Vancouver and District Waterfront Workers' Association and the Shipping Federation of British Columbia has been renewed at a substantial increase in wages, it is reported.

Effective December 1, the offer made by the federation of an increase of three cents an hour and five cents an hour overtime, was accepted at a recent meeting of the association, according to an announcement made Thursday by Major W. C. D. Crombie, manager of the shipping federation.

Thus ship laborers will get eighty-seven cents instead of eighty-three cents an hour for straight time, and $1.20 instead of $1.15 overtime. Dock workers will get eighty-three cents an hour for straight time and $1.25 overtime.

With seventy tons of cargo from the United Kingdom for Victoria, the Donaldson liner Moveria, Captain R. Rankine, berthed at Rithet piers at 4:10 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Captain Rankine reported a rough trip from San Pedro, where the vessel left on November 11, as she was riding light, drawing only thirteen feet of water at the bow when she tied up. Out of port, the ship rolled badly for hours, caught by strong headwinds and a rough sea.

The Moveria had a large shipment of Christmas liquor aboard for this port and Vancouver, but this time was not followed up the coast by a Coastguard cutter, as she was in the summer. Cargo loaded here for the United Kingdom included fifty-six tons of locally milled oat feed, two pieces of machinery and some household effects.

Captain A. B. Clarke, known on the coast as "ABC," was aboard with Mrs. Clarke and their daughter. He recently relinquished command of the Donaldson liner Moveria at San Pedro to become marine superintendent for the line on the Pacific Coast.

The captain had been at sea since October 28, 1927, and worked his way up to master in 1928, after fifteen years in all sorts of vessels, from windjammers to passenger steamers. He entered the service of the Donaldson Line in 1917, commanding the Salacia and lastly the Gracia.

The Moveria left Liverpool for Victoria on October 12, her first port of call being Panama, for bananas. She left for Vancouver at 10:15 o'clock last evening.
